FOR THE

Staff Liaison Report

2/23/2022

To my knowledge, the employee issue previously reported in the last several board reports has still not been resolved. I have not heard anything in the past several weeks and need to look into this item.

Continual period subbing still continues to be an issue. Teachers are still consistently giving up their prep periods because of staff shortages. A lot of teachers are taking the students back to their personal classrooms which does help. It allows the teachers to be where they have the items they need to period sub and also complete some of what they need to do during their prep periods. It is not an answer to the problem of constantly having to period sub, but it does make it easier to deal with.
