Policy History: July 1, 2022

INTRODUCTION

The Financial Operations Policy will provide a summary of statutes and regulations that apply to the financial operations of charter schools, as well as specific model board policies designed to comply with these legal requirements.

These are suggested policies to address state and federal law requirements and State Board of Education Rules applicable to charter schools in South Carolina. Prior to the adoption of model policies by a school board of a charter school, each policy should be customized by adding the school's name where indicated and by tailoring the language, where appropriate, to fit the specific needs, culture, and requirements of the school. PCSASC recommends that the Board of a charter school consult with the school's legal counsel in connection with adopting and implementing the policies contained within this manual.

PCSASC plans to update the Model Board Policies for Charter Schools on an annual basis to reflect changes in applicable laws and regulations.

I. Business Plan and Budget Process

A. Business Plan

Charter school leaders of both start-up charter schools and conversion schools have a vision for the school and for the results they wish to obtain. A business plan is the recommended way to merge the goals for the school with the everyday mechanics of running a business—obtaining funding, recruiting students, operating a facility, supervising staff, and maintaining the financial health of the organization. The business plan is the first step to outlining the financial goals for the school’s operating board and will shape the budget process for the school. While the business plan should be developed by the founding board and proposed school management, input should be obtained from external stakeholders such as parents, community leaders, and potential staff.

The current charter application requirements in South Carolina delineated in S.C. Code Section 59-40-60 already contain several components that are outlined here. Therefore, thorough development of the business plan will assist charter school leaders as they develop their application. Since the business plan is often used as a tool to obtain funding from community and business leaders, it should be created as an organizational document that describes the school’s purpose and operational plan.

The business plan should include the following:

1. Description of the school (mission statement, instructional focus, and goals and governance structure). The governance section is particularly important, as it provides information regarding the school’s governing board structure, bylaws, articles of incorporation, and whether or not the school will utilize the services of an education management organization (“EMO”);
2. Market analysis supporting how the charter school would be fulfilling a need within the community. The charter school must engage in ample research of how the current schools within the system are serving the community, how the charter school intends to recruit students from other schools within the district, and how many students must attend the school in order to maintain financial feasibility, etc. This section should also include the school’s marketing plan for reaching out to potential students;
3. Management plan summarizing how the school will be managed on a day-to-day basis. If school management has been identified, this section should explain each position’s role and responsibilities and a proposed organizational chart. If school management has not yet been identified, the business plan should include a recruiting plan, job descriptions for each position, and an estimated time for finalizing the hiring process. The management plan should provide brief descriptions of employment practices such as hiring and firing employees; performance evaluations; salary decisions; and staff training.

If the school will be using the services of an EMO, the management plan section of the business plan should define the general terms and conditions of the arrangement and outline the necessary parameters around the roles and responsibilities of the governing board and the EMO. In addition, if the school will be contracting out any other services (accounting, custodial, food services), those contracts should be described in this section.

This section should also begin to address the financial management plan. This section should begin to analyze the sources of funding that will be available to the school (local funding, state funding, federal funding, funds derived from grants, donations, or private loans) and develop a plan and a timeline for obtaining those funds.

4. Operations plan describing the day-to-day operations of the school.

This section will discuss what grade levels the school will serve; curriculum and instructional focus; class schedules; transportation to and from school; plans for safety and security, etc. This section should also discuss the plans for obtaining a facility if one has not already been obtained.

B. Budget Process:

Charter applications must include detailed and thorough budget documents within the application. (“Application” will be referred to within this document to include new applications as well as renewal applications). The goal of a sound budgeting process will result in not only annual budget documents but also written policies and procedures detailing a system of proper internal controls to ensure fiscal responsibility. Components of the budget process for the application include the financial plan with the annual operating budget, cash flow proforma, and the cash flow projections for the first year of operation and for a five-year period.

If a local charter school, the charter application should also state whether or not the school will be utilizing the local education agency (“LEA”) for fiscal management; if so, the application should also include provisions specifying the amount of autonomy the charter school will have with regard to budgets and expenditures. While the exact requirements of a charter school's annual budget will differ according to the LEA, the state guidelines are addressed here.

1. Annual Operating Budget

An operating budget is a dollar amount established as an estimate of expenditures and how they will be financed. While this policy manual is not intended to extensively detail the education funding formula in South Carolina, a charter school's main source of income will be the per-pupil payments it receives from the state and the local district (when appropriate). Since state and local funding is initially determined pursuant to projected enrollment numbers for the charter school, it is important that charter school leaders conduct market research in order to determine reasonably accurate projected enrollment figures. Charter school leaders should analyze how the community's education demands are currently being met in order to determine potential demand for the school. Charter school leaders are encouraged to talk to other charter school operators in the district in order to determine what their year-to-year growth rate has been and whether or not their projected enrollment figures support the growth rate. Since overestimating student enrollment can have significant budget impacts on the charter school, it is recommended that student enrollment projections err on the conservative side. It is also recommended that charter schools periodically conduct an environmental scan to determine if demographics are changing in the community or in the local schools since these factors can impact both enrollment projections and programs that impact funding. The Regulations specifically require that the "[t]he application must include documentation regarding the pupil accounting system, including evidence that the charter school will adhere to the procedures and regulations that are applied to public schools operating in South Carolina. Pupil accounting and reporting requirements must be in compliance with the S.C. Pupil Accounting Manual and the S.C. Student Accountability Manual, published by the State Department of Education." South Carolina Regulation 43-601`III.G.3. Links to both of the referenced manuals can be found at ed.sc.gov/finance/financial-services/manual-handbooks-and-guidelines/

The South Carolina Department of Education has a plethora of financial information, tools, manuals, and guidance at <https://ed.sc.gov/finance/financial-services/>

PCSASC strongly recommends charter schools follow the South Carolina Department of Education's Revenue and Expenditure Function Codes as they develop their budget document and accounting system. These function codes are detailed in the South Carolina Department of Education's Financial Accounting Handbook and can be found at:

<https://ed.sc.gov/finance/auditing/manuals-handbooks-and-guidelines/financial-accounting-handbook>.

See also the South Carolina Department of Education's Funding Manual located at:

<http://ed.sc.gov/finance/financial-services/manual-handbooks-and-guidelines/funding-manuals/>

Creating a budget document that is aligned with the Department of Education makes creating financial reports and reporting to stakeholders easier and more consistent with public school financial processes in South Carolina. It also will support the audit process.

See also the South Carolina Department of Education's Annual Auditing Guide located at:

<https://ed.sc.gov/finance/auditing/manuals-handbooks-and-guidelines/annual-audit-guide-and-lars-template/>

The budget document itself shows revenues by source (e.g., state funding, federal funding, grants, fees, etc.) and expenditure by object (e.g., salaries, benefits, rent, materials, books, services, professional training, utilities, insurance, etc.) for the first year of operations (or current fiscal year for a preexisting school).

2. Monthly Cash Flow Statements

The cash flow statement will show the cash generated and collected by school operations as well as the school's expenditures. While the cash flow statement is based upon the annual operating budget, it disaggregates the data into monthly columns resulting in either a surplus or a deficit. Cash flow statements are important tools to assist new and operational boards in planning for cash shortfalls and excesses, and thus should be reviewed regularly.

The annual operating budget must be adopted by the governing board. The adoption of the budget and any amendments must be recorded in the minutes of the board meeting. It is critical that accurate records of budget adoption and amendments are kept, as these are often reviewed by auditors during the annual audit process. Appendix A is a board resolution evidencing the formal adoption of a specific board policy and can be used for all policies within this manual.

Appendix B contains a board item for schools to use to document formal board adoption of the budget.

II. System of Fiscal Controls

Charter schools have the flexibility to exercise autonomy over budgets and expenditures. Therefore, the charter school must have the proper procedures in place to ensure that the board is complying with its fiscal responsibilities. The South Carolina Department of Education's Financial Accounting Handbook is a principal resource regarding Governmental Generally Accepted Accounting Principles and Internal Control Structure. (<https://ed.sc.gov/finance/auditing/manuals-handbooks-and-guidelines/financial-accounting-handbook>)

The South Carolina Department of Education's Financial Accounting Handbook explains:

"Internal control is a process—effected by an organization's board of trustees, management, and other personnel—designed to provide reasonable assurance regarding the achievement of objectives in the following categories:

- Reliability of financial reporting;
- Effectiveness and efficiency of operations; and
- Compliance with applicable laws and regulations.

As a result, internal control consists of five interrelated components:

- Control environment;
- Risk assessment;
- Control activities;
- Information and communication; and
- Monitoring."

A discussion of each of the above-identified components can be found at: <https://ed.sc.gov/finance/auditing/manuals-handbooks-and-guidelines/financial-accounting-handbook>

A. Bank Accounts and Procedures

The charter school's board should designate a bank (or insured Federal savings and loan association) to be used for deposits, checking accounts, and other banking needs. The bank should be FDIC insured or otherwise fully collateralized. It is a recommended practice for charter schools to issue a request for a proposal for banking services in order to select the school's financial institution. Once selected, the board should adopt a resolution designating the financial institution as the charter school's bank prior to engaging in financial transactions. A resolution is included in Appendix D.

B. System of Internal Controls

The development of a system of internal controls is of utmost importance to the school's financial stability. Internal controls are necessary in order to protect the school from unauthorized access and use of records and funds. In order to determine what internal controls are necessary, it is a recommended practice for schools to engage in a risk assessment in order to identify areas where control would minimize a certain risk. Furthermore, it is recommended that the advice of a financial professional experienced in auditing procedures and processes be consulted to best establish a system of internal controls.

The following are examples of when risk might be introduced into the organization:

- Changes in the unit's operating environment
- New personnel
- New or revised information systems
- Rapid growth
- New departments or activities
- Restructuring or reorganization resulting in staff reductions, changes in supervisor, or segregation of duties.

Once the areas of potential exposure are identified, governing boards must determine if a policy is the best method to minimize the risk, or whether a control or some other system of checks and balances is appropriate, or both. While there are certainly no absolutes, a governing board will minimize its risks when there are strong policies in place and the board closely monitors whether or not those policies are implemented properly by administration or designated staff. Any deviations from standard practice or policy should be documented immediately, and the policy itself should be re-examined to determine if updating or changing the policy is necessary.

The following list is not exhaustive but should assist in an analysis of what internal controls and policies are necessary to ensure reliability in the school's financial practices. s of the policies are attached.

- A board policy should be developed designating the individual(s) on the board with the authority to open and close bank accounts, make deposits and withdrawals and conduct other banking transactions. This policy should also address staff turnover and how transfer of vital financial information will be handled (i.e., passwords and account information). This information should be included in the board's bylaws but is important enough to warrant a separate policy as well.

The policy is in Appendix C of this manual. While the use of credit cards is discussed in the policy, PCSASC recommends avoiding the use of credit cards whenever possible. Therefore, Appendix C includes some important limitations for boards to consider regarding this practice.

- A board policy should be in place detailing management of cash handling since this is one of the most common areas for fraud and misuse. This policy should also include procedures for mail management and incoming checks, reconciliation of bank statements, and withdrawal procedures. The policy is in Appendix E of this manual.
- A policy detailing the school's accounting system and how it will be maintained. This policy should detail the controls in place for accounts payable and receivable, processing purchase orders and checks, etc. The policy is in Appendix F of this manual.
- A policy prohibiting transactions that would present a conflict of interest and an annual questionnaire for board members to use to disclose any possible conflicts of interest. The policies are in Appendix H and Appendix I of this manual.
- A policy detailing payroll and benefit disbursements to staff. The policy is in Appendix J of this manual.

B. Audit Preparation

Charter schools must have an annual financial audit conducted each fiscal year by an independent South Carolina licensed certified public accountant, and pursuant to S.C. Code 59-40-60(F) must include in its charter school application:

1. Evidence that the plan for the charter school is economically sound, a proposed budget for the term of the charter, a description of the manner in which an annual audit of the financial and administrative operations of the charter school, including any services provided by the sponsor, is to be conducted.

The financial reporting format must be in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles. The audited financial statements are to be included in the annual report submitted to the LEA (State Board of Education), the State Board of Education, and parents of students attending the school. Appendix G to this manual contains a policy addressing the audit and financial statements.

The Regulations for Procedures and Standards for Review of Charter School Applications specifically require:

2. The application must include a description of the annual audit of the financial and administrative operations of the charter school, including evidence that the charter school will adhere to the accounting, auditing, and reporting procedures and requirements that are applied to public schools operating in South Carolina. Accounting, auditing, and reporting requirements must be in compliance with the principles set forth in the following publications, published annually by the Office of Finance:
