I. Opening Items

A. Record Attendance

B. Call the Meeting to Order

C. Wilkinson called a meeting to order on Saturday Nov 13, 2021 at 7:58 AM.

C. Welcome

D. Agenda Review/Goals for the Day

II. Guest Presentations

A. Dr. Christina Grant, Acting Superintendent of OSSE

- Dr. Grant thanked the Board, excited to begin her work in Washington DC
- Mental health of young people must be prioritized
- We must talk about what we have been through as a collective due to the global pandemic
- We will need to rethink what high schools look like (internships, robust range of experiences that prepare students for college and career)
- Teacher retention and what we can do to ensure that teachers, who are tired, feel supported

Questions:

- Question on teacher retention: how do we make it affordable to teach and lead in DC? (housing options, loan repayment options, teacher sabbaticals, acceptance and understanding that most teachers are not going to teach for 25 years anymore, etc.)
- Question around the work OSSE is doing or needs to do to reimagine high school and close achievement gaps
- Question about the role of social workers and counselors: we need a more robust pipeline, and to ensure that teaching and education is an attractive proposition for students

B. Dr. Michelle Walker-Davis, ED of the DC PCSB

Future of PCSB

- systems wide problem around student outcomes and equity gaps among groups of students - not a charter school problem or a DCPS problem - a problem for us all to tackle together
- Scott Pearson did excellent work around accountability
- PCSB used to be the alternative and there was great urgency around opening many charters to serve students who had been failed by traditional systems
- Now the role has shifted - ensuring quality for student outcomes particularly historically marginalized groups
- Keeping our eye on accountability and the day to day environment in schools that create excellent outcomes for students

- This accountability is measured through the Performance Management Framework (PMF) which is in the process of being revised
  - How do we measure the success of all groups of students? Disaggregated data will be key in new framework
  - Old framework did not adequately account for growth that schools make with certain groups - how do we reward schools for this growth?
  - How are schools are serving students with disabilities and what that range of complexity looks like at individual schools (at-risk, students with special needs, etc.)
- New framework will be piloted next year
- Schools will not be tiered until 2023-2024
- Also need to re-evaluate our approach to growth: now need to think about the impact on existing schools when we open a new school. Is that school's ability to be successful impacted by how many schools we already have?
  - Acknowledgement that parents are more nuanced on what they are looking for in schools
  - Not just about what schools get to open but who gets to grow. How do we ensure successful schools with long waiting lists are able to serve more students
- Partnerships - one of the areas that has been challenging
  - Role clarity for PCSB
  - State department of education is very different than any other state and the way we work together
  - Education adjacent work - social and emotional work that goes on in schools to support students
- Effective organization - improving transparency and communication with LEA leaders

III. Small Group Analysis Activities

Strategic priorities discussed:

- Leverage the diversity of our community and strengthen our commitment to equity and inclusion among both students and staff
- Continue to improve the responsiveness of our academic program to better support the needs of all learners, particularly English language learners and our most struggling students
