The school year has started very well. New employees are being on-boarded and learning their positions. With vacancies filled, the organization is able to work on big-picture strategy toward achieving student outcomes.

Director of Curriculum & Instruction Danielle Kelsick and Alison Diaz went to Accelerator Institute to become a part of the cohort. The program is specifically for CMOs that are expanding from a few schools to many schools. The program focuses on assisting CMOs to achieve student outcomes. Very rigorous interview process. ECS was awarded a place in the program. ECS program participants will travel 4 times over 18 months to fulfill the requirements of this program. Accelerator Institute will visit ECS schools for observations and meet individually with the ECS board president in order to keep ECS board apprised.

The ECHS #2 facilities update was tabled since it will be moved to closed session, Menlo Charter Properties (MCP) is a holding company that subleases site facilities to ECS schools. ECS sought legal review and was provided the recommendation to change the composition of the MCP from 2/3 ECS board members and 1/3 non-ECS board members to the opposite, 2/3 non-ECS board members and 1/3 ECS board members.

COO Farnaz Flechner shared this update:

HR team has worked very hard to implement new benefits structure. Provided a set of competitive benefits options to ECS employees even amid insurance market challenges.

ECS Special Projects and Operations Manager Jeremiah David is leading efforts to implement Team Drive, which will provide a knowledge management system to all ECS employees where the current system is only available to administrators and some front office employees. Jeremiah David is also leading an initiative to consolidate and streamline all compliance activities at ECS.

ECMS-Gardena Principal Dr. Qiana O'Leary shared the following update for ECMS-Gardena:

Focusing on 3 major best practices:

IV. Study Sessions

A. Strategic Priorities / Action Plan

The board and meeting attendees viewed the attached slides and then broke out into small groups, answering the questions: what is non-negotiable and what do principals have the power to shift?

Group 1 - Principals:

Non-negotiable: Environmental focus. Interdisciplinary practices so that instruction is connected across content. Dress code is currently non-negotiable, but want to make it negotiable. Coaching and instructional leadership. Data-informed decisions. Social justice and equity. Supporting low-income communities of color. Leadership development. Highly qualified people.

Principals have power to shift: Partnerships. Curriculum offerings. School sites want to inform and opine with Home Office leadership. Hiring and retention practices. Would like more budgetary control. Would like to have more input in grant processes, rather than shifting school priorities mid-year.

Group 2 - Directors/Home Office Staff:

Non-negotiable: Social-emotional needs of students. ECS Best practices: teacher development, rubric. ECS mission and values. College prep and Green Ambassadors programming. Operational consistency around HR, Accounting, and organization-wide policies and procedures. Full-time counselor at each school. Elective and specialty classes. After-school programming of some kind.

Principals have power to shift: Tribes Agreements, if there is another social-emotional program that addresses needs.

Group 3 - Board Members:

Non-negotiable: Policies supporting safety legislation. Identification and support of student subgroups. Collaboration between stakeholder groups.

Principals have power to shift: Day to day operations.

B. Charter Petition Updates: Renewals and Material Revisions

Met with authorizer for ECMS-Gardena. Need to submit the petition by October 15. Will need to obtain board approval prior to submitting to LACOE

ECHS charter petition renewal draft has been submitted. Once final charter is submitted, then the process will continue.
