III. Reports/Presentations

A. Fundraising YTD Update

COO Farnaz Flechner presented the attached fundraising slides. These slides had been presented to both the Finance and Development Committees previously:

ECS is running very close to meeting its fundraising goals for the school year. There is about $347k left to raise to meet the total 18/19 and 19/20 goals with about $750k currently out for consideration in grant proposals. Due to this, ECS is confident that its fundraising goals will be met. There is only $41k left to raise for the 18/19 goal and the 19/20 goal for new initiatives has already been exceeded by $174k.

Farnaz commended Julie's work as a team of one as opposed to the full Development team that she led previously.

B. Discuss ECHS 2 Petition and Facilities Options

Farnaz Flechner and CEO Alison Diaz presented the ECHS 2 Petition and Facilities Options slides:

The four strategic priorities were shown. Priority 4 was highlighted as the relevant priority for this agenda item: expand to meet community needs.

This priority is linked to the ECS Mission. To meet the needs of the community, ECS needs to prove that they can replicate its model in similar communities. If it's ECS's goal to transform public education from within, ECS needs to expand to this additional high school.

The current plan was discussed: in 2017-2018, ECS built out the Home Office, wrote the ECHS 2 charter petition draft, and early hired the ECHS 2 principal Dave Trejo. In 2018-2019, Dave Trejo was onboarded, ECS considered its charter expansion authorizer options for ECHS 2, and the Home Office continued to solidify toward operational excellence. In 2019-2020, Dave Trejo will be further onboarded by training at ECHS as well as start hiring other positions, in preparation for the opening of ECHS 2 in the fall of 2020.

Challenges in the political landscape were discussed:

Senate Bill 126 which put into law that charters are subject to the Brown Act, Government Section 1090, Political Reform Act and Public Records Act. Most of the items in this bill were already being undertaken as a standard process at ECS.

Assembly Bill 1505, if passed, removes appeal rights for new charter and renewals and allows districts to deny charters because of financial impact.

Assembly Bill 1506, if passed, would put a moratorium on all new charters after 1/1/2020.

Assembly Bill 1507, if passed, would prohibit charter schools from opening additional schools outside the district where they received their original charter.

ABs 1505-1508 have already passed through Education Committee and will now go through their next path through the legislative process, ultimately ending at the desk of Governor Newsome for signature or veto.

Board member Denise Berger asked if there are a lot of charters not operating effectively. Farnaz replied that there is competition and the appearance of saturation by charter schools as well as the politics involved. If passed, AB 1505 could be devastating to charters across California. Several really bad examples of charters (which are in the news) are making it difficult for charters.

The discussion moved to finding site location options for the ECHS 2 expansion school. The challenge is to find a short term location with the appropriate characteristics to run the ECS education program. The challenge to finding a long term solution is the relatively small number of available sites within the geographic area. Financial considerations include requirements from the U.S. Department of Education grant that ECS was awarded.

Board President Anthony Jowid asked what the ECS board can do to support ECS.
Farnaz Flechner stated that speaking with local elected officials is one of the best moves that supporters of quality charter schools can make.

ECS started 20 years ago and Alison was instrumental in catalyzing the new school and its unique academic model.

Alison is recommending that she step down as the ECS CEO and that Farnaz Flechner step up to CEO from her current COO position.

Alison then shared her history at ECS, starting as the Executive Director, serving for many years in this role, stepping down for several years while having a child, then moving back into the Executive Director to the present day.

Alison then went on to detail accomplishments that Farnaz has made: many positive shifts in Home Office operation and culture, reorganized resources--leaning on principals to ensure that resources for talent and budgets are aligned. Instituting the norm of Team One at Cabinet. Culture of direct feedback that Farnaz has pushed has been a very positive shift.

The proposed reorganized ECS leadership/management structure was then shared at the meeting, detailing the chief responsibilities for each employee.

Pending board approval, a new organizational structure will be created. Also, a communication plan will be made and it will be implemented for all ECS employees and to all external parties.

Vote on this Action was postponed to take place after Closed Session: Public Employee Appointment.
