IV. COMMITTEE REPORTS

A. Academics

M. Eigen updated the Board on:

Insight Data Review

- Insight is a national teacher and staff survey that gathers teacher feedback on critical instructional leadership practices like setting clear expectations, giving leaders the actionable information they need to increase teacher retention and improve student learning.
- With the average point at a 7, our schools show very good trajectory.
- Domain Scores from the teacher survey show we are at the top quartile. Over time we have bounced up from last years' scores surpassing pre-pandemic levels asides from 3 areas i.e academic opportunity, operations & support for instructional planning levels recorded in Fall 2019 scores.
- T. Algarin had a question about school performance in relation to their zip code.
- M. Eigen & J. Cunningham clarified that disparities exist in some cases.

Comparative state test data review

Headlines

-There is an extremely large discrepancy in proficiency scores across the city directly aligned to economic opportunity and race.

-When you compare full charter results to equivalent schools (similar percent economically disadvantaged and special education), we perform in the top half to quarter of schools and above average every time.

-When you isolate by school (vs. charter) and subject, middle school math is a weak point and we fall below the average.

-Compared to equivalent schools, we are especially outperforming in High School ELA, Elementary Math, Elementary ELA (KWPEA, KNPA) and Middle School ELA (KWPP)

Projected Teacher Retention:

- We are trending higher this year in teacher retention than previous years. Overall we are at 94%

Regional Landscape: Stagnant to Slightly Stronger

Fall 2022 insight data indicates we are trending toward a stagnant to slightly stronger regional teacher retention picture for SY22-23. If historical trends hold, retention will likely fall between 66%-74% (barring a significant change, e.g., principal transitions, shifts in comp, coordinated regional effort). Last year we landed at 67%.

National Landscape: Stagnant to Slightly Worse

Both the KIPP network average and the KIPP top quartile attrition averages are trending slightly upward (aka retention is down) from last year, while KIPP Philadelphia is moving in the downward direction (aka retention is up). This suggests that even stagnant teacher retention at KPPS may mark a net accomplishment for our network.

- H. Richman asked if there was a prognosis from other schools
- M. Eigen offered that it was hard to get data from other schools
- A. Eerts asked what the plan was to keep the momentum going
- M. Eigen explained that we are ensuring the principals have the right mindset with one on one conversations with them to do things that impact positively

School Teacher Retention Takeaways

School Landscape: Mixed Bag

Fall 2022 Insight data indicates the following - note that these numbers are able to be influenced by strategic, coordinated actions by leaders.

- KDCA and KWPEA will see stronger retention this year
- KWPP, KPEA, and KNPA will see weaker retention this year
- KPOC will see retention around 75%, which is middling for founding year
- KPPA data is unclear as only 53% of teachers responded to the survey
- J. Cunningham offered that one of the schools will have a dip but its intentional to force more attrition to set them up for better talent success going forward to keep the right people and have tough conversations with those who are not great for kids.
- A. Aerts asked if we are being intentional about talent recruiting by front loading with the recruiting team
- M Eigen said the Talent team is exceptional and are on top of that.

PROGRESS TO GOALS

- We are over the 55% mark on the goal
- Towards the goal we have 2.4 million dollars needed to be raised

PIPELINE TO GOALS

- Scenario planning conducted this year
- Towards the $6MM goal we have 2.5 million dollars gap needed to be raised
- Worst case and least likely scenario is we dont raise a penny
- Best case we get all that has been asked for i.e $12.3MM and end the FY23 with over $12MM
- Likely scenario will be getting the $2.5MM which's the annual goal we typically land with.
- There is a feasible plan to hit that mark in the internal weekly team meeting that is currently on going
- Following S. Jones request, A. Sinha will let board members know what they have outstanding yet to pay as a reminder of their giving and balances.
- J. Davidse mentioned that he has been on calls with A. Sinha and is happy with the plans.
- J. Cunningham offered that one of our big donors is restructuring their give process due to a family loss and will circle back with us in the Spring. That giving should get us to the 12MM mark.
- A. Aerts asked if there were other expected giving in the pipeline.
- C. Benson proffered that there is one donor that is in line to re-up their gift
- H. Richman asked if we are allowed to give naming rights to donors
- J. Cunningham offered that for the appropriate donor we do give the option of Naming Rights but we typically don't put it out there that it is available.
