Authorizer Visit

On December 11th we were visited by our DOE Authorizers. The purpose of the visit was to observe actionable items that were cited in our renewal conditions as they look for evidence of progress. In addition, to lend support in key areas of the school community that address deficits in teacher effectiveness and student achievement.

Here are the key takeaways and observations made during the visit:

- Classroom planning and teacher collaboration were evident in some, but not all, classrooms visited. Further development of co-teaching structures is necessary.
- As a schoolwide initiative, classrooms should be more student-centered and less teacher-directed.
- The instructional focus which is writing across all content areas, was evident in classroom instruction and student work on bulletin boards.
- Teachers need to review and develop better questioning techniques using structures such as Bloom's Taxonomy.
- In some classes, there was more active engagement and students' voices. This needs to be a part of all classes for all scholars.
- The school has a plan in place and data in regards to our RTI initiative in MS and the rollout of HS RTI will be in a few weeks.
- Teachers need to ensure that data-driven instruction is implemented to assess and understand student learning.

Overall the meeting was positive and they offered their support to Summit as a partner who can support and assist in our efforts to ensure that Summit Academy Charter School thrives. They cited that there is a need for Summit in this community where there a limited choices for young people in terms of school choices.

Here are some of their suggestions:

- Our educational partner, Lavina should conduct PD's with our staff in regards to teacher pedagogy and best practices
- SOLVED, must provide more concrete support in terms of Professional development now that we have a plethora of school data. Possible PD sessions should include data driven instruction, differentiating based on data, concrete data analysis, and looking at student work using protocols through the lens of data,

They want to schedule another visit in February and we are looking at possible dates. On their next visit they informed us as to what they would like to observe when they return.

The requested the following:

- Written feedback and agendas from Lavina, including the teachers they have been working with and next steps
- Written feedback from our instructional coaches, including agendas and next steps
- Any teacher improvement plans for teachers
- The use of SOLVED data to drive instruction. How is it used for daily lesson plans and to differentiate for students?
- The plan for ENL students. More specifically the support they will receive throughout the school year (academically, socially, emotionally, parent outreach and communication, etc.)

- ENL teacher expectations (room environment, schedule, opportunities to differentiate)
