February 3, 2025

Honorable Board of Trustees
Harding Charter Preparatory School District
Oklahoma City, Oklahoma

We have compiled the accompanying statement of assets, liabilities, and net assets – cash basis for the Harding Charter Preparatory School District as of January 31, 2025, and the related statements of revenues and expenses – cash basis for the seven (7) months then ended. Our compilation was performed in accordance with Statements on Standards for Accounting and Review Services issued by the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants. The financial statements have been prepared on the cash basis of accounting and the budget laws of the State of Oklahoma, which is a basis of accounting other than generally accepted accounting principles.

A compilation is limited to presenting, in the form of financial statements and supplemental information that is the representation of the management. We have not audited or reviewed the accompanying financial statements and supplemental information and, accordingly, do not express an opinion or any other form of assurance on them. However, we did become aware of a departure from the cash and budgetary basis of accounting that is described in the following paragraph.

The regulatory basis of accounting requires a specific format of presentation of governmental funds and the accompanying presentation does not comply with that format. Additionally, fixed assets and any related debt are not included in the statement of assets, liabilities and net assets presented on a cash basis. Any such accounts are reflected in the statement of revenues and expenses as a corresponding receipt and/or expenditure of funds. The effects of these departures on the financial statements have not been determined.

Management has elected to omit substantially all of the disclosures ordinarily included in financial statements prepared on the cash basis of accounting. If the omitted disclosures were included in the financial statements, they might influence the user's conclusions about the school's assets, liabilities, net assets, revenues and expenses. Accordingly, these financial statements are not designed for those who are not informed about such matters.

We are not independent with respect to Harding Charter Preparatory School District.

Sincerely,

Jenkins & Kemper, CPAs P.C.

Description

EDA makes planning and local technical assistance investments to support economic development, foster job creation, and attract private investment in economically distressed areas of the United States.

Under the Planning program, EDA makes Partnership Planning, Short-Term Planning, and State Planning awards to eligible recipients to create and implement regional economic development plans designed to build capacity and guide the economic prosperity and resiliency of an area or region. More specifically, EDA makes Partnership Planning investments to designated planning organizations (i.e., District Organizations) serving EDA-designated Economic Development Districts and to Indian Tribes to facilitate the development, implementation, revision, or replacement of Comprehensive Economic Development Strategies (CEDs), which articulate and prioritize the strategic economic goals of recipients' respective regions. EDA also makes Short-Term and State Planning awards for economic development planning activities that guide the eventual creation and retention of high-quality jobs, particularly for the unemployed and underemployed in the Nation's most economically distressed regions.

Award Amount Notes	Approximately $500,000 and $5,000,000 with this appropriation, though EDA will consider applications above and below these amounts.
Application Deadline Notes	While EDA encourages eligible applicants to submit their applications as soon as possible, EDA strongly advises eligible applicants to submit complete applications no later than March 31, 2022
Match	Yes
Program Design Ideas	Mayors on Planes might be a great fit for this if it is a wide enough and fairly exacting plan matching mayors to investors internationally.

Description

General Operating

IACA General Operating Support Grants are offered to established not-for-profit organizations that make a significant local, regional, or statewide impact on the quality of life in Illinois. Grants recognize arts programming of high quality that is appropriate to and reflective of the communities served and that broaden opportunities for the public to participate in the arts.

Successful applicants demonstrate strong operations, stable management, ongoing assessment and evaluation, and a strong commitment to making artistic programs accessible and relevant to a diverse range of participants. Organizations must also show that their programs and activities have artistic, educational, and cultural value.

Arts Midwest GIG Fund

Arts Midwest's Grow, Invest, Gather (GIG) Fund provides financial support to arts organizations for rebuilding and re-imagining creative engagement in their communities amidst the challenging uncertainty affecting all corners of the creative sector. Whether your organization is recovering, starting anew, or doing your best to hold steady, this flexible support opportunity will help you grow by investing in your capacity to gather your community to experience the power of creative expression together.

Description (continued)

Funds are intended for organizations to build their capacity by having multiple points of access to support presenting performing and visual artists of high artistic merit, virtually or in-person.

Application Deadline Notes

These are forecasted grants for 2023. Dates should be similar for 2023.

Applications are released on the GATA system.

General Operating – March 31, 2021

Gig Fund - May 3, 2021

Monitor the website for 2022 applications for 2023.

Match

Yes. All matching funds must be from non-state sources.

– A cash match equal to 70% of the grant amount is required from organizations who's last completed fiscal year's cash operating expenses for public arts programming were $50,000 or less, e.g., a $5,000 grant requires a $3,500 grantee cash match.

– A cash match equal to 100% of the grant amount is required from organizations who's last completed fiscal year's cash operating expenses for public arts programming were over $50,000, e.g., a $5,000 grant requires $5,000 grantee cash match.

Program Design Ideas

There are approximately 2-3 grants that RBEM would be eligible for the museum. General Operating would provide leveraged funding for specific programs, such as a public reading or lecture to "free days" for the general public.

Applicants have the opportunity to apply for funding across four grant categories: (1) State Apprenticeship System Building and (3) Modernization; (2) Expand Opportunities for the Number of Youth Being Served by RAPs; (3) Ensuring Equitable RAP Pathways Through Pre-Apprenticeship Leading to RAP Enrollment and Equity Partnerships; and (4) Registered Apprenticeship Hubs. The ABA grant program builds on the Department's previous and ongoing efforts to expand and modernize Registered Apprenticeship through expanding the number of programs and apprentices, diversifying the industries that utilize Registered Apprenticeship, and increasing access to and completion of Registered Apprenticeship Programs (RAP) for underrepresented populations and underserved communities.

Description

The National Endowment for the Arts (NEA) is the only arts funder in America—public or private—that provides access to the arts in all 50 states, the District of Columbia, and U.S. territories. Through our grantmaking to thousands of organizations each year, we support the creative capacity of communities to provide all Americans with diverse opportunities for arts participation. Since 2001, the Challenge America program has extended the NEA's reach by promoting equal access to the arts in communities across America. We are committed to diversity, equity, inclusion, and fostering mutual respect for the diverse beliefs and values of all individuals and groups.

Challenge America offers support primarily to small organizations for projects in all artistic disciplines that extend the reach of the arts to populations that are underserved.

Our support of a project can start no sooner than January 1, 2023. Grants awarded under these guidelines generally may cover a period of performance of up to two years.

Previous NEA applicants recommended for FY 2020, FY 2021, or FY 2022 funding in Grants for Arts Projects (formerly known as Art Works), Research Grants in the Arts, or Our Town are not eligible to apply.

Description (continued)	If an organization applies to the Challenge America category, it may not also apply to the Grants for Arts Projects category during the same calendar year.

Description

Address multidimensional, systemic challenges. Proposals should describe how collaborative members will implement effective, intersectional solutions that will alter, align, or influence at least two opportunity systems, described as wealth accelerators or decelerators in the Wealth Creation Framework above. At least one system should fall within JPMC's philanthropic focus areas: jobs and skills, financial health, small business, and/or neighborhood development. Leverage cross-sector leadership and collaboration. Proposals should demonstrate how business, government, philanthropy, nonprofit, anchor institutions, and other community organizations will coordinate and deploy their unique resources, expertise, and decision-making authority to drive systemic change.

Center the voice and lived experience of Black and/or Latina women. Proposals should demonstrate commitment to diversity, equity, and inclusion in their design and approach. This includes having Black and/or Latina women lead efforts to develop and implement solutions across the partner organizations and sharing power with nonprofits most proximate to priority communities with deep cultural competence and expertise.

Drive systems change at the city level. Proposals should articulate how partners will deploy solutions that depart from “business as usual” practices and policies; and move beyond short-term outcomes to transform and better integrate systems to spur wealth creation for low-and moderate-income Black and/or Latina women. Examples of key systems changes that JPMC aims to stimulate and support include:

- Active collaboration between public, private, and nonprofit actors to achieve common goals;
- Improved coordination of actors within opportunity systems through collective impact, systems mapping, and other coordination approaches;
- Stronger and higher quality engagement of the business community or anchor institutions to leverage new resources, sustain systems changes and service provision;
- New ways of thinking and working together that improve efficiency, reduce redundant service delivery, and take advantage of economies of scale; and
- Easier access to services by those who need them.

Award Amount Notes

The 2021 Challenge will provide three-year grants of up to $5 million each to 4-8 collaborative efforts advancing the economic progress of Black and/or Latina women by tackling systemic drivers of the racial and gender wealth gaps.

Description

Through this American Rescue Plan Act Build Back Better Regional Challenge Notice of Funding Opportunity (ARPA BBBRC NOFO), EDA aims to assist communities and regions impacted by the coronavirus pandemic. The pandemic has caused, and continues to cause, economic injury to U.S. communities and regions in devastating and unprecedented ways. This ARPA BBBRC NOFO is designed as a two-phase competition to (1) help regions develop transformational economic development strategies and (2) fund the implementation of those strategies that will create and grow regional growth clusters. Such efforts will help regional economies recover from the pandemic and build economic diversity and resiliency to mitigate impacts of future economic disasters.

In Phase 1, EDA will provide technical assistance grants to approximately 50-60 coalitions (through a lead institution). These coalitions will be considered “finalists” and the grants will be used by the finalists to prepare more detailed applications for transformational projects that benefit their respective geographic regions and are aligned around a holistic approach to building and scaling a strategic industry.

Description (continued)

In Phase 2, EDA will award each of the 20-30 finalist coalitions $25-75 million (and potentially up to $100 million) to fund the collection of projects they identified. The projects will be funded through grants to coalition members.

Eligible Applicants:

- Public and State controlled institutions of higher education
- Private institutions of higher education
- County governments
- Special district governments
- Nonprofits having a 501(c)(3) status with the IRS, other than institutions of higher education
- State governments

Description

The National Association for the Exchange of Industrial Resources (NAEIR) is like a modern-day Robin Hood, without the stealing or tights. The non-profit organization collects excess inventory from corporations and distributes the merchandise to its members: schools, churches, and charities. Members pay a fee to join and shipping costs for the items, but the goods are free. Donations include office supplies, computer software, clothing, books, classroom materials, toys, and personal care products from donors including Microsoft, Kid Brands, and General Electric. NAEIR has 18,650 members and receives donations from several thousand corporations. Manufacturing executive Norbert Smith founded NAEIR in 1977.

Award Amount Notes

Description

They primarily invest in nonprofit organizations aligned with four focus areas: financial health, housing affordability, small business growth, and sustainability and environmental justice. They may consider grants to support other critical local needs and initiatives. Priority is placed on nonprofit programming supporting low- to moderate-income communities, addressing racial and social equity, and accelerating an inclusive economy.

The Gorter Family Foundation was established by James P. Gorter and Audrey F. Gorter in 1978 to provide a vehicle for the family to make its charitable gifts. Until 2006, the Foundation was mainly reactive – responding to requests from charities in the Chicago area and elsewhere. In 2006 the Foundation decided to take a more proactive approach to its giving, and after considerable research, decided to direct its efforts to the needs in Lake County, Illinois and, more specifically, to focus on education. While the Foundation continues to support charitable causes in other areas, over the past eight years the majority of its gifts have been in Lake County and have been concentrated on providing enhanced educational opportunities to the children of North Chicago (See North Chicago Community Partners). The Foundation's motto is Look North. It is dedicated to persuading other donors to focus a portion of their charitable giving on the very great needs in Lake County.

This funder does not accept unsolicited proposals; however, it is worth a phone call with them as they are a major funder in North Chicago for education. This could meld into more opportunities as they are concerned with economic development for distressed families in Lake County.

Description

They view philanthropy as a powerful source for driving social innovations that lead to more resilient, healthier communities. It provides an opportunity for us to pioneer new ideas, generate new solutions, develop the next generation of leaders, strengthen civic and social organizations and build partnerships to solve complex, global problems. We apply four principles that we believe are fundamental to thoughtful and effective philanthropy:

COMMUNITY-DRIVEN

Community solutions must be a collaborative effort with the people we seek to support, and ultimately, be owned by the community

IMPACTFUL

We focus on impact through measurement and evaluation, to continually learn and make critical decisions

SUSTAINABLE

Our investments are sustainable, transforming systems and people in ways that endure beyond our support

EQUITABLE

We serve vulnerable populations with focus on the most marginalized, including people from underrepresented diverse communities, and differently abled and LGBTQ persons

Program Design Ideas The Abbott Fund does not accept unsolicited proposals, so there are two ways to approach them. Solicit your board, staff, and acquaintances to see if they know anyone working at Abbott and get an introduction from them. Alternatively, send them an introductory letter with an overview of all of your programs. If there is no response, they do have a matching corporate gift program with their staff where Abbott workers can identify you as "cause worthy" to receive quarterly donations matched by Abbott. It is worthwhile to follow up with this funder as they are a major donor in the community. You can also approach them with a major volunteer opportunity for their staff.

Approach Strategy They are a major funder located in Lake County with major potential for funding an initial approach. This may be slightly time-consuming to work with them but could be worth it to get on their radar.

Description

Circle of Service Foundation is a private foundation that makes grants to support great organizations to enhance community, opportunity and well-being.

They believe that challenge grants are powerful tools in the fundraising toolboxes of the organizations they support, and strategies from their grant recipients confirm this. Accordingly, most of their grants have a challenge component.

We welcome grant applications both for specific programs and general operating support. Each of our grants generally can be categorized into one of our four focus areas:

- Education
- Jewish Community
- Medical Research
- Community Services

You or one of your programs is consistent with one of our focus areas: For Community Services and Jewish Community requests, you or your program is in Cook County or Lake County, Illinois.

Please Note: We accept applications by invitation only for: Education requests (if you have a new program that aligns with our giving area, please feel free to contact us); Jewish Community requests for organizations without programming in Cook or Lake County, Illinois; and Medical Research requests.

Description

There are three specific criteria that inform BMO Community Giving decision-making, guiding and influencing how we build capacity, select and work with our community partners, and measure performance: collaboration, learning and innovation.

Collaboration

We believe that corporate social responsibility is about human connection and is a journey best travelled in partnership with our community partners. As one of North America's leading companies, we understand that the economic, social and environmental choices we make impact the communities we serve. Through the sharing and pooling of information, data, resources, lessons learned and promising practices, far more can be achieved than everyone working in isolation. We seek out opportunities to facilitate collaboration amongst unlikely partners, across all sectors, disciplines and geographic boundaries.

Learning

Making progress on important social issues requires continuous learning and knowledge sharing — from setbacks as well as successes — and the timely use of insights to inform and adapt strategy. We look to capture the right data, at the right time, which enables us to make smarter decisions and affect more meaningful and sustainable social change.

Innovation

Staying true to our values and principles, we leave room to explore spaces within our portfolios and new digital spaces to support promising new ideas and approaches, supporting ingenuity and independent thinking. We seek to collaborate with organizations that see opportunity within difficult situations and challenge the status quo; those with passion and bold ideas who seek to deliver new and sustainable solutions to ever-evolving challenges and seeding transformational change.

Analysis and Recommendations Based on the Comprehensive Grant Strategy

The Greater Waukegan Development Coalition (GWDC) is comprised of a fascinating group of sub programs and projects primarily focused on fostering the development of business and real estate throughout the Lake County, IL area. An interactive map, known as the Distressed Communities Index, (Economic Innovation Group), indicates that Waukegan is a “mid-tier” city in Illinois, with a distress score of 40.8 (out of 100) based on seven criteria, including housing, high school diplomas, unemployment, poverty levels and other factors. Its demographic is racially/ethnically White, 51%, Other race, 22%, African American, 18% and Asian, 5%.

Its proximity to Chicago (29 miles to the south) is considered by some major Chicago funders to be a part of “the Chicago Metropolitan area,” but to others, not close enough. However, Lake County, of which Waukegan is a part, is highly attractive to its own local private foundation and corporate funders who prefer to keep it local. Lake County also is the mecca for many major corporate headquarters, including three pharmaceutical companies, Walgreens, Discover Financial Services, and Brunswick, to name a few. While this strategy is not solely focused on local funders, this is an opportunity for an introduction to who they are.

Azimuth was engaged to provide a One-Year Grant Strategy (1YGS) specifically for Select Chicago, an economic development program seeking to attract national/international businesses to the Waukegan area. GWDC identified five priority areas within this search, which included a third priority, dollars for travel and conferences. This was replaced by a more feasible search for funding for the Ray Bradbury Museum. The original third priority area is rarely funded by either public or private grants but there are several approaches, aside from fundraisers and galas, for finding these funds.

Azimuth focused on four major factors while preparing this funding strategy for GWDC: 1) increasing GWDC knowledge and relationships with local funders; 2) identifying major corporate funders and banks that already have an affinity with economic development goals; and 3) increasing GWDC's access to federal, state, county, and city grants, which are usually monetarily larger and create bigger impacts on your work, and 4) early funding opportunities through the Infrastructure Bill. This fourth focus was included to ensure that all GWDC's economic development programs and projects are in a solid position to tap into some of the infrastructure funding by preparing the organization, its businesses, and its training participants/constituents. Are your startup businesses aware of the new opportunities that may be available in electric vehicles and charging stations? Are participants/constituents training for the soon-to-be in high demand and high paying jobs in construction or broadband that will be desperately needed? Do they know how to register and bid for projects at the city, county, and state levels?

A list of projected (not yet posted) opportunities for the initial infrastructure funding is attached. These opportunities represent a glance at what will be available to primarily state, local, tribal, and metropolitan planning agencies. As these descriptions go through the Federal Registry process, and may be changed again at the state level, they are educational only. Other opportunities will soon be posted at the federal level that many nonprofits can tap into directly. However, this list is indicative of what will be released at the state, local, and city government levels. These entities then often further release this funding through bids, RFPs, grants, and other funding mechanisms at the local level and that will be open to nonprofits and their partners.

Economic Development Funders as a Focus

Organizations seeking money for economic development programs and projects are the darling investment consideration of banks and corporations. As economic engines themselves, banks and corporations seek to gain customers and consumers, so they prefer high impact and attention gaining projects. How many banks can you name that sponsor large marathons? How many corporations seek the name recognition generated from being linked to professional stadiums and playing fields? Obtaining grants for economic development projects are an easier sell to banks and corporations because they understand and champion projects that can add to the workforce, increase their brand name, develop new consumers, increase business, or solidify the loyalty of their staff. However, these two types of institutions are often transactional and operate differently than private foundations. Instead of operating solely for the public good, they can be more interested in the quid pro quo of a partnership with your programs. As a hyperbolic example, they may build your project but want their name on it. The pros and cons of this type of funding will be examined and is to be understood as possible pitfalls or successes in these partnerships.

A third prime partner for economic development projects is your state, local (meaning county) and city governments, who can provide projects through vendor bids, direct grants, or partnerships, but can also be directly engaged by developing relationships with (especially city) politicians and officials. They each have bid and RFP websites where you can bid on projects or apply through Requests for Proposals (RFPs) but getting to know the people running some of these agencies and engaging them beyond their bid postings can prove highly beneficial. This will be especially relevant for your programs and the people you serve over the next 5 – 10 years as one of the infrastructure bill funds are released.

Partnering with Banks

Often, though not always (depending on their size and scope), banks have a foundation arm that provides grants and application processes. This is not from their adherence to idealistic or compassionate ideals but was mandated by the Federal Reserve. The Community Reinvestment Act (CRA) was enacted in 1977 to prevent redlining by encouraging banks and savings associations (collectively, banks) to help meet the credit needs of all segments of their communities, including low- and moderate-income neighborhoods and individuals. The banks are evaluated every three years and their outcomes are posted publicly. According to the CRA rules, a qualified investment is “a lawful investment, deposit, membership share or grant that has as its primary purpose community development.” Again, depending on the size of the bank, their amount of investment in the community is open to public scrutiny.

What does this mean to nonprofits? The banks do have money to invest, but it is left to them to determine what they consider a “community investment.” Larger banks, such as JP Morgan Chase or Citibank have highly competitive, annual grant application processes that have a national and sometimes international scope. Smaller community banks can be directly courted to increase their knowledge of your programming and can be approached in several ways beyond a proposal.

Potential downside

They will prefer to place a bank staff member on your board, provide their staff with quality volunteer opportunities through your organization, solicit your staff and participants as banking customers, provide financial literacy to your constituents using their training programs, or ask you to provide a constituent contact list. This last should never be honored, as constituents have privacy rights.

Potential upside

If your organization can control the relationship, local banks can provide ongoing funding and loyalty to your priorities. As an example: One Chicago community leader approached all the banks in her community and asked the banks to provide a staff for a specific and separate “Finance Board of Directors” that was not a part of the regular board. She deposited money in each of their banks to establish a customer relationship. The board, meeting monthly, was asked to provide an annual give of $10,000 each that could be used as discretionary funding for the organization. This successful strategy ensured the organization $60,000 a year in funding that could be used for (in Select Chicago’s case) money for economic development through international travel and conferences. The organization also had a heads up on important financial impacts within their community so could better prepare.

The banks can also be asked to provide services that surpass their direct interests, such as provide ongoing interview preparation training, and professional development or leadership classes. More than one bank can also provide financial literacy classes that offer more variety and opportunities than one bank alone.

Bank lead staff can also, if engaged, provide introductions to community influencers and potential investors, and suggest your organization for Donor Advised Funds accounts. They can also open the door for new opportunities, such as low-interest loans for a capital project or an investment opportunity in the community. As a good example of the value of building relationships with banks is that a substantial portion of the recent PPP loans went to those who had prior engagement on a business and personal level with their bank(s).

Partnering with Corporations

As with banks, corporations seek high-impact programs and projects that they can use as advertisement for their services but have a slightly different angle. Some reasons they donate include: 1) as a recruitment tool for attracting individuals who choose to work for the company that has a corporate social responsibility program and offers employees time off to pursue volunteer opportunities; 2) so that companies can realize significant tax advantages by donating in-kind or cash gifts to nonprofits; 3) by donating to well-known causes or nonprofits, companies can increase their visibility; the increased visibility can help a company to reach business goals such as expanding its customer base or establishing relationships with government officials; and 4) they frequently donate to issues or communities to compensate for negative publicity related to the nature of its work or its impact on local communities.

Potential downside

While none of the above motivations are in themselves terrible, there are some to avoid more than others. As with banks, deciding what your organization will/will not tolerate is a discussion before applying or accepting funding from corporations.

Potential upside

Many corporations offer matching gifts to employee giving for their chosen nonprofit. They may sponsor your event, connect you with other beneficial companies to meet your needs, offer large numbers of volunteers when you need them for special projects, or provide in-kind services or goods. If personal relationships are developed, they also may take a chance on a larger investment in your work outside of a grant alone.

Overall Suggestions and Recommendations for Local Foundations, Bank and Corporate Funders

1. Fundraising is more than an annual proposal. Get to know your local funders and create a relationship. Go beyond the annual "ask" by keeping them apprised of your progress with reports, even if they do not ask for them. Contact them with good news (quarterly, if possible and if they are open to it).
2. Thank them profusely on your website or through social media, in your annual report and/or newsletters. Include a live link to their websites from your website on a special donor thank you page.
3. Use one-page data-driven graphic handouts about your programs that you can quickly send or hand out to potential funders at events. Develop talking points and elevator speeches you can pitch.
4. Send your local, state, and federal politicians information about your projects and accomplishments. This is not lobbying. Get to know these politicians. They represent you and should be approachable and open to your needs, if you are not making hard sells but providing informational data.
5. Partner on projects with other organizations when feasible. Funders are looking for unique and potentially highly successful partner projects that unite to attack one community challenge (such as jobs in a high unemployment area).
6. Who is your go-to when you need support letters for a federal or state grant? Can you ask a politician or other community influencer (bank or corporation) for a support letter?

Preparing for Infrastructure Funding

The attached list of initial Infrastructure funding opportunities is limited to a small number of eligible entities but is likely to be released at the local level through grants, bids and RFPS that GWDC can access. The projects indicate the types of businesses and workers needed to fulfill these funding goals. By getting to know the agencies releasing these funds at the local level, GWDC could have a foot up and gain early training funding from those agencies to prepare workers and businesses to fill the positions that will be needed. To better prepare GWDC for these opportunities, it is recommended to reach out to these agencies to explain your services. This can be done through phone calls, meetings, sent handouts and training plans, and strategic partnerships.

In the meantime, GWDC and its constituent businesses may wish to register to the following sites to increase access to public funding.

The governance board and superintendent aim to do whatever is practicable to provide the proper environment for the positive resolution of employee concerns. In the event of a dispute involving employment matters and/or the implementation of policies affecting the employee, as stated above, the employee may submit a complaint by following the procedures outlined below. Failure to follow the procedures and timelines below constitutes a waiver of the employee's right to complain. It is recommended that all parties familiarize themselves with these procedures.

1. The complaint process shall begin with the affected employee submitting a written statement to the principal stating the nature of their complaint and their position for resolution of the complaint. All pertinent facts and details shall be provided in this statement – including the identification of any witnesses and/or supporting documents – in order to provide full details of the matter and assist the principal in his/her determination. The employee may provide the principal with witness statements, which must be based on the witnesses' personal knowledge. The complaint shall be signed and dated by the employee. The complaint must be submitted to the principal no later than ten (10) working days of the alleged event. The principal shall provide the employee with a written and dated acknowledgment of receipt of the complaint. This acknowledgement shall include the date and time when the employee is to meet with the principal. The principal shall meet with the employee to discuss the complaint no later than ten (10) working days after the receipt of the complaint.
2. After discussing the complaint with the employee, reviewing the information provided and conducting an investigation, if any, the principal shall make a determination concerning the complaint and shall submit a written decision, which may contain a plan of action required to resolve the complaint, if appropriate, to the employee no later than ten (10) working days after the meeting between the principal and the employee. The employee shall sign a copy of the decision acknowledging the date of their receipt of such.

3. If the employee does not agree with the decision of the principal, the employee may appeal that decision to the superintendent by providing a written notice of appeal to the superintendent no later than ten (10) working days from the date the employee received the principal's decision. The appeal shall contain a copy of the written statements from the original complaint and a copy of the principal's written decision. The superintendent shall sign a copy of the notice of appeal acknowledging the date of their receipt of such.
1. Upon receipt of the appeal notice, the superintendent shall schedule a meeting with the principal and the employee to discuss the issues in the appeal. The superintendent's review shall be limited to the evidence reviewed by the principal, the meeting with the principal and employee and any written statement(s) provided by the principal and/or employee supporting their respective positions.
2. Upon the superintendent's review of the evidence, the meeting with the principal and any written statement(s) provided by the principal and/or employee, if submitted, the superintendent shall make a decision concerning the complaint.
3. The superintendent shall provide their decision, in writing, to the employee and principal no later than ten (10) working days after the employee provides the notice of appeal to the superintendent.
4. The employee shall sign a copy of the superintendent's decision, acknowledging the date of their receipt of such. If the employee refuses to sign the acknowledgement, then such shall be noted and dated on the decision in the presence of the principal. The superintendent shall confirm by email to the employee their refusal to sign the acknowledgement.
5. The superintendent may either uphold or overturn, in whole or in part, the principal's decision. If the superintendent overturns, in whole or in part, the principal's decision, they may, in their discretion, determine that an alternate decision is appropriate, in which case the superintendent's alternate decision shall supersede the decision of the principal. If the superintendent overturns the principal's decision in part but does not enter an alternate decision, then the remaining part(s) of the principal's decision which was/were not overturned shall remain in full force and effect.
6. In a situation involving a complaint regarding a district administrator other than the superintendent, the word "principal" shall be replaced with "district administrator".

4. In a situation involving a complaint regarding the superintendent, the employee may submit a complaint by following the procedures outlined below.

Failure to follow the procedures and timelines below constitutes a waiver of the employee's right to complain. It is recommended that all parties familiarize themselves with these procedures.

1. The complaint process shall begin with the affected employee submitting a written statement to the superintendent stating the nature of their complaint and their position for resolution of the complaint. All pertinent facts and details shall be provided in this statement – including the identification of any witnesses and/or supporting documents – in order to provide full details of the matter and assist the superintendent in his/her determination. The employee may provide the superintendent with witness statements, which must be based on the witnesses' personal knowledge. The complaint shall be signed and dated by the employee. The complaint must be submitted to the superintendent no later than ten (10) working days of the alleged event. The superintendent shall provide the employee with a written and dated acknowledgment of receipt of the complaint. This acknowledgement shall include the date and time when the employee is to meet with the superintendent. The superintendent shall meet with the employee to discuss the complaint no later than ten (10) working days after the receipt of the complaint.
2. After discussing the complaint with the employee, reviewing the information provided and conducting an investigation, if any, the superintendent shall make a determination concerning the complaint and shall submit a written decision, which may contain a plan of action required to resolve the complaint, if appropriate, to the employee no later than ten (10) working days after the meeting between the superintendent and the employee. The employee shall sign a copy of the decision acknowledging the date of their receipt of such.
3. If the employee does not agree with the decision of the superintendent the employee may appeal that decision to the Governance Board by providing a written notice of appeal to the Governance Board President no later than ten (10) working days from the date the employee received the superintendent's decision. The appeal shall contain a copy of the written statements from the original complaint and a copy of the superintendent's written decision. The president shall sign a copy of the notice of appeal acknowledging the date of their receipt of such.

4. The governance board may either uphold or overturn, in whole or in part, the superintendent's decision. If the governance board overturns, in whole or in part, the superintendent's decision, the remaining part(s) of the superintendent's decision which was/were not overturned shall remain in full force and effect.
5. This procedure shall be followed only when the superintendent is the principal or initial administrator rendering the decision from which the complaint derives.

The governance board is committed to establishing an environment that embraces community collaboration within the employment practices of the district for all positions.

VACANCIES

After a position vacancy has been declared, the procedure herein will be followed.

1. The district will use all methods that are practical to advertise the job vacancy.
  - It is required that all positions be advertised for a minimum of 2 weeks unless it is determined by the superintendent or his/her designee that the job vacancy is an immediate need for the current school year.
2. Resumes and applications will be reviewed by the appropriate supervisor to ensure the applicants meet all employment requirements of the position.
3. Interviews will be conducted by the appropriate supervisor and staff at the discretion of the supervisor. ~~If the appropriate supervisor is not the superintendent, the superintendent may attend all interviews.~~ If the appropriate supervisor is not the Chief Academic Officer (CAO), the CAO may attend all certified personnel interviews as determined on the established compensation schedule. If the appropriate supervisor is not the Chief Operating Officer (COO), the COO may attend all support personnel interviews as determined on the established compensation schedule.
  - It is recommended that the appropriate supervisor conducts a minimum of 2 rounds of interviews to be consistent in employment practices, however, it is understood that at times immediate positions may need a faster schedule. In this case, it is recommended that appropriate supervisors establish a protocol to provide equal opportunity to all quality applicants.
4. The superintendent must be invited to all final interviews by the appropriate supervisor.
5. The appropriate supervisor will recommend one or more applicants to the superintendent for consideration. The applicant(s) may be invited to attend and observe the school when in session. The purpose of the visit(s) is for the applicant(s) to observe the school, students and faculty during day-to-day operations, and for the faculty to meet the applicant(s). The appropriate supervisor – or his/her designee -- will host the applicant(s) during the visit.
6. The board will vote on a motion to hire the recommendation from the superintendent. The applicant will be notified of the board's decision. If the board votes to hire the applicant, the superintendent, or his/her designee, ~~the principal, with input from the superintendent,~~ shall offer the applicant the position. If the applicant accepts the position, they will submit to a background check conducted by the district, with the cost of the check borne by the district. If the candidate accepts the position and passes the background check, then a contract of employment will be formed and signed. The candidate will assume the duties as assigned by a date designated by the principal with oversight of the superintendent.

~~FACULTY VACANCIES~~

Vacancy, for purposes of this section, does not include a non-renewed contract position for the following school year. ~~A non-renewed position can be filled for the following school year by the appropriate administrator.~~

~~After a position vacancy has been declared, the procedure in Section A-4 will be followed with the following exception. If the position is to be filled, the superintendent will direct the appropriate personnel to post the position internally first, and then file notice of the position vacancy if necessary. If the principal does not offer the vacancy to an existing faculty member, then the procedures in Section B-3 will be followed.~~

NON-RENEWED CONTRACT POSITIONS

Before a position can be declared a vacancy for non-renewed contract positions, the procedure herein will be followed.

1. Letters of Intent for the upcoming school year will be distributed at the start of the spring semester and must be submitted by March 1 for all employees.
  - If an employee chooses not to return, the district may post the vacancy immediately upon receiving written notice from the employee.
  - If an employee expresses intent to return but the appropriate supervisor determines a non-renewal is necessary for the upcoming school year, the supervisor must provide a formal written notice of non-renewal before the first Monday in June, as outlined in policy Employment Renewal Practice.
2. Once the non-renewal is received by the district office, the position will be declared vacant and posted following the employment procedures outlined above.

SUBSTITUTE FACULTY EMPLOYMENT

The district will ~~try to~~ provide a qualified substitute teacher to take the place of classroom teachers who are absent, whenever feasible and available. Whenever a substitute teacher is not available, students will be reassigned to alternative coverage by other faculty or an alternative educational program or enrichment will be provided.

If a parent of a student is qualified to be a substitute and wishes to serve for volunteer hours, that parent may serve as a substitute without compensation. If a qualified parent wishes to substitute with compensation, the district will provide compensation and no volunteer hours will be awarded. A qualified substitute is one who has an approved yearly background check on file with the site or district.
