C. Review of Relevant Documents & Reports

The academic excellence committee received both a detailed presentation from USC Aiken and Clemson requesting to partner with LSC in the establishment of a local Call Me MiSTER cohort and an instructional staffing update.

- The proposal to establish the Call Me MiSTER cohort includes funding to cover living stipends for three program participants (total of $15,000) in addition to an advisor stipend ($5,000) for a total annual cost of $20,000. One of the program requirements is that students participate in a "live and learn" community. Since USC Sumter does not have any residential facilities, the funds that Liberty provides would cover the costs associated with housing the program participants for one year. In exchange for the funding, each participant would agree to one year of service post-graduation at the charter school in addition to assisting with the school's ASPIRE (after-school program). There were concerns from committee members about the start-up cost and the fact that it would be recurring.

- A total of 24 individuals members have been hired as part of the Primary Academy campus instructional staff to include three support and 21 classroom-based support positions.
  - - 100% of Instructional Staff Hired (Complete)
      - 52% Minority, 100% Certified Teachers as TOR, 71% Total Certification, 155 Years Exp.
      - 3/3 Instructional Support Staff (3:1 Application Ratio with 31% Applicants Selected)
      - 10/10 Teaching Fellows (3:1 Application Ratio with 32% Applicants Selected)
      - 11/11 Lead Teachers Hired (4:1 Application Ratio with 26% Applicants Selected)
      - The next step is to begin the onboarding process (via Namely) and to host the monthly virtual staff connect. Separately, Dr. Ivey stated that he will also begin engaging in the process of staffing the campus-based operations team.
- Staff requested that the committee request action on two items at the next full board meeting: approval of the LSC employee handbook (second reading) and the request for 3 new PowerSchool codes be established in the state database (LBA for foreign language, STEM, and CHAMPS (SEL)).
- In terms of next steps, the academic committee has finalized the revisions to the scholar & family handbook and directed the staff to share a final version with the full board with a vote requested at the May full board meeting.
