Across both campuses, LSC is at 85 percent on track for the leadership development program, Dads on Duty continues great collaboration across both campuses, the climate survey is full swing ahead with almost at sixty percent. LSC will participate in its very first Special Olympics event with Sumter School District at Sumter High School. The elementary campus is reading The Wild Robot and the primary academy is reading Stewart Little as part of the annual Read-a-Thon; these books are read at home with parent involvement.

Dr. Ivey shared that 36 of the 41 driver goals have been met or are on track. He confirmed a commitment to continued improvement. The average daily attendance rate across both campuses is at a celebration mark of 96 percent. He shared in the meeting packet the priorities he will focus on during the month of April, and major challenges and decisions that will require board input.

Dr. Ivey provided an update on the spring organizational rally cry for third quarter. As a reminder, this information, much like a report card, covers what is most important for this organization to get right before the end of this school year. The report provides the detailed data collected that feeds into the rally cry. He was pleased to report that while LSC has multiple rally cries at each campus, each team will have their own rally cry next year. The data categorized as red, yellow, or green identifies the key metrics outside of those LSC measures year long, breaking it down into what needs to be done in thirty, sixty, and ninety days.

He noted this as a great tool to measure and communicate what we know must be accomplished.

C. Finance Committee

Gifford Shaw presented the revenue and expenditures through February noting the month finished ahead of budget mainly due to $200,000 received in federal funds. The end of year is conservatively forecasted to be $50,000 under the $9.97 million budgeted. At March 21, there was 45 days of cash on hand. The food service fund is showing a profit of $47,845.

The construction loan balance went from $5 million to $2.7 million; however, a payment on the Broad Street location construction of just over $1 million increased the construction loan balance to $4 million.

Mr. Shaw provided an update on FY25 federal reimbursements commending staff for their diligence and hard work to secure almost $2 million in donations and grants.

He noted funding was identified by recurring funds to support core education offerings and charitable donations and philanthropy to support the whole child mission.

Mr. Thompson made remarks regarding increasing class sizes next year stressing the importance to be financially diligent without filling the gap with fundraising in a much larger way. He noted the importance to have processes in place, parent engagement and discipline, that allow teachers to teach twenty-five students in a classroom. In addition, Liberty has to create a surplus each year or interest rates will be incredibly high, and it would be guarantees who would have to step in to guarantee the debt or operations will not be financially sustainable. He continued that right now, financials are moving in the right direction, and Liberty is a much better place with the disciplines in place..

Mr. Shaw confirmed that adding one child per classroom will reduce the charitable need per student cost from $3,000 to about $2,500 and that LSC still cannot operate without charitable gifts that make up about 25 percent of the budget.

Mr. Shaw presented the proposed FY26 budget for first reading.
