The committee opened by noting both academy directors were unable to attend as they led memorial acknowledgements for scholars on their campuses.

The Executive Directors Academy Best Practicers group is nearing completion of the federal needs assessment and stakeholder engagement process, which will guide the allocation of federal funds (Title I–IV and IDEA). Input from roughly 75 parents has already been collected, with final recommendations to be presented at the May board meeting and incorporated into the FY27 budget.

School culture and development indicators remain strong, including a 96.5% average daily attendance rate and a 97% persistence rate, with minimal attrition largely due to relocation.

Parent engagement continues to exceed expectations, with over 80% of families on track to meet volunteer hour requirements following the successful completion of monthly PEACE sessions.

Academically, preliminary grades 2–5 data shows 64% proficiency in reading and 62% in math under more rigorous benchmarks. Science remains an area of focus following prior SC READY results, with curriculum review and targeted boot camp supports underway. Leadership expressed cautious optimism while emphasizing the importance of continued focus through testing.

Key student experience initiatives continue to advance, including near completion of the Kindergarten and Fifth Grade Roadmaps, expanded career pathway exposure for fifth-grade scholars, and successful execution of the Amazing Shake competition, engaging approximately 300 scholars and community partners.

On the development front, the school received the first $250,000 installment of the YASS grant award, with an additional installment expected in September of the same amount. A $1.75 million congressional grant has advanced to the full proposal stage. The school is also launching the LEADS Program to deepen community engagement and build advocacy through immersive leadership experiences.

Financially, the organization remains stable and is projected to end the fiscal year with an approximate $300,000 surplus. Cash on hand is currently at 25 days, with expected improvement pending multiple reimbursements. The FY27 budget is on track for second reading in May.

Additional discussions included exploring a potential middle school leadership role, continued staffing progress toward full hiring, and the formation of a task force to study inclusion classroom models and class sizes.
