Director Sanchez spoke to the culture of the board- including the uniqueness of the school and it's population. This included a thank you to the board applicants for their interest and desire to dedicate their time to the Board and the school.

Director Sanchez asked the following question-

School Performance: What do you think makes a school successful, and how do you see Parker Performing Arts excelling or improving in that area?

Keshia responded-

- Accomplishing mission, providing adequate education toward that mission. Look and feel different for every student.
- PPA provides this for every student. Provides a home for each student despite their differences. This gives students confidence and growth in personal and arts.
- A place of growth- academic rigor, step outside of academic comfort zone

Katie-

- A school that is engaging and growing students is successful. Student growing in confidence and feels safe and at home. This is a measure of success.
- Improvement in academics and communication with teachers has been difficult.

Meredith-

- PPA is exceptionally awesome because the staff wants to be here and feels like they are supported well. PPA has built a strong community. PPA is doing class size, TA's, small group learning right. Individualized needs are being met.

Director Sanchez asked the following question-

Intentionality: Serving on a school board means making decisions that impact students, teachers, and families. What's one value or principle that would guide your decision-making in this role?

Meredith-

- Health of the big picture. Decisions making may not be immediately impactful, but long term, domino impact will be more important to look at

Katie-

- Value of the mission- tough decisions needs to be compared to the mission

Keshia-

- Risk assessments- look at all components of a decision. Conscience thinking, thoughtfulness of all stakeholders as well as smaller groups affected. Not making snap judgements

Director Sanchez asked the following question-

Vision: If you could help Parker achieve one big goal over the next few years, what would it be and why?

Keshia- PPA move toward a high school and is excited about the idea of the winter gala.

Katie- Help bolster the volunteer program

Meredith- Preschool program, and special education support- overcome charter school reputation about IEP services
