IV. Information / Discussion

A. Reports and Updates

CEO Report (Robert Golden, President & CEO)

- Recent break-ins taking place at GCA, unfortunate with what GCA is building but material things can be replaced. We want to protect the culture and the environment, fortunately staff morale is still upbeat and understanding of the situation. Overnight security crew that watches the campus after school hours, monitoring the campus and making sure the school site is secure. Burglary alarm system is being upgraded and more surveillance throughout campus to prevent further incidents. Secure charging cabinets for the student tablets and be able to lock the tablets into the cart overnight.
- Earth Day Celebration - April 22nd, starting in the 1950s and an opportunity to understand how their work with GCA will impact our community. Partner with Central Valley Air Control, guest speaker spoke about air quality with our students and committed to a community service project with our 4th graders next year.

Provide tools to quantify the air quality. They look forward to non-profit organizations to invest in and advance their missions, selected GCA as their profit to support moving forward.

- University High School came to support GCA on Earth Day and put a book drive together, recycling the books from the community and donated over 1,000 books to the school.
- First Annual Spelling Bee Contest. Over 18 participants, congratulations to 3rd grade winner Jordyn Latimore and runner-up 1st grader Blake Ezenwugo.
- Zoo partnership, recap with teachers about this past year and what suggestions they have to take it to the next level. Connect with numerous zoos and see the programs they have in place, getting ideas on how to elevate this partnership even further. Meeting with their education team to discuss how to transform this program.
- Summer school starting June 13th - June 24th, GCA summer camp to provide a reading camp and take a deeper dive with the zoo. 50 spots reserved for exceptional Golden students to further their learning with the zoo (8:30 AM - 12:30 PM). For those who want to work on their reading levels, a reading program will take place on campus (8:30 AM to 1 PM).

Financial Report (Jim Weber, Charter Impact)

- Update from March includes P-2 reporting counts, expenses are continuing to trend higher but the school has supplemental money to cover purchases. There is a likely upward trends in forecasting, the goal is ending at 3%. Cash flow is a challenge during growing times, escalated requesting of federal funds on a quarterly basis, and cash pressure for factoring in the next 2 quarters (April to September).

- P-2 reporting came above 170 ADA, fortunate increase from P-1 reporting - the most difficulty was in the winter, as is for most schools.
- It would be beneficial for the school from a cash perspective to shift to ESSER III funding, deferring ESSER II funding to next year. There is an improvement in overall funding from the P-2 reporting count.
- Expenses - a lot of noise compared to budget but that's cumulative. Going back to the earlier budget, the real change in this month (March vs February) was curriculum in addition to this year and expanding for next year, and the expectation for student transportation was increased from previous months.
- Having access to the ESSER funding, reasoning for the excessive expenditures, the plan still reserves the same amount for the next 2 years.
- Cash balance is much worse this year due to the environment, but the ESSER funding helps stabilize that even though the cash is not there. The state apportioned some, the more significant claim made that won't arrive until after June. This includes factoring funding for 2021-22 to keep the school at this level and purchasing for 2022-23 would have to factor additional cash for purchasing. There is a possibility for more grant funding that will strengthen the outlook for the school for 2022-23.
