V. FY2019-2020 Forecast Discussion

A. FY2019-2020 Forecast Discussion

Andres Tejeda Soto, Committee Chair, then directed the attention of the Committee to the FY20 Forecast Discussion. Elizabeth Dignan, Chief Operating Officer, then shared the latest forecast, including year-to-date actuals through April 2020.

Dignan shared that the latest forecast assumed that City on a Hill Circuit Street and City on a Hill Dudley Square (collectively "City on a Hill Boston") would receive funding for 394 students and City on a Hill New Bedford would receive funding for 90 students, but in a recent call with the Department of Elementary and Secondary Education (DESE), management was notified that City on a Hill would be reimbursed for 404 students in Boston and 102.6 students in New Bedford.

Dignan also noted that COVID-19 has caused changes to our program that helped to reduce costs, including eliminating spring activities, saving on facilities maintenance and utilities costs, saving on transportation and nutrition, and personnel (from reduction in coverage payments). With higher than budgeted revenue and lower than budgeted expenses, the schools are expected to come in ahead of the budget, though final numbers are to be determined as we work on closing out the school year.

Dignan shared that she will look closely at the cash requirements in City on a Hill New Bedford and transfer funds from the City on a Hill Foundation as necessary, up to the approved amount. Funds remaining after external obligations have been met will be used to meet the intercompany obligations (management fee due to network (Circuit Street) and other intercompany balances due). Finally, she also shared that we applied for the CARES Act Funding and the application was approved to cover COVID-19 related costs after March 13.

The Committee discussed Dignan's update and asked what the school was planning for next year given the most recent DESE guidance on reopening schools. Dignan responded that the Senior Leadership Team has not yet had a chance to discuss DESE's latest guidance, but that management have been planning for next year based on DESE's initial guidance and that we will take the latest guidance into consideration as we continue to plan for next year. Committee members then inquired about enrollment for next year and, Dignan responded that it's too early to tell as she believes many families will wait to understand the plan for the fall before committing.
