III. Virtual Learning Update

A. Virtual Learning Update

Sonya Pratt, Chief of School, shared with the Board that City on a Hill's summer school will begin July 6 and continue through July 28. The courses taught at summer school this year include Math, Science, History, English and Spanish (taught remotely). Pratt shared that enrollment for summer school is currently at 101 students.

Pratt then directed the Board's attention to the NWEA MAP test, which is a state- aligned, nationally normed, computerized adaptive test to measure a student's growth over time. Pratt shared that City on a Hill's 9th grade performed better than 10th grade on the test. Pratt also shared that according to the data, reading comprehension and science need the most support.

Pratt shared action plans that City on a Hill Leadership has formed after reviewing the MAP data, which include: using tutorial and outside consultants to help fill in learning gaps; testing students in class instead of a large group environment; and spreading out the testing schedule more effectively next school year. The Board discussed consultants that will observe City on a Hill's current curriculum for Science and English, and that changes will be made in instruction accordingly.

The Board discussed using the tools that NWEA MAP offers to analyze the data and target specific skills and students that need growth. Pratt shared that the Leadership Team will analyze the MAP data as well as Quarter 4 data in the coming weeks to continue to make actionable plans for student success in School Year 21-22. Jacqueline Bennett left at 10:00 AM.

Collins shared with the Board a timeline that occurs each time City on a Hill runs a lottery, which in alignment with COAH's Enrollment Policy, occurs every 30 days. The Board discussed how many seats were offered for School Year 2021-22. Pina shared that 65 of the 75 seats offered have been accepted for next school year.

Collins shared that an engagement plan was also created to have multiple forms of communication with incoming students during summer break, which include, but are not limited to, a monthly newsletter, Freshman Academy, and virtual Open Houses. Collins shared that planning is already underway to plan marketing initiatives and enrollment touch points for next school year, and an in depth calendar will be created at the City on a Hill Operations Team Summit held in July 2021.

V. Gala Debrief & Development Strategy Presentation

A. Gala Debrief & Development Strategy Presentation

Jordan Pina, Chief of Staff, directed the Board's attention to a debrief of the City on a Hill 2021 Virtual Gala. Pina shared a comparison of current and previous school year (School Year 2019-2020) giving, noting that City on a Hill has had double the amount of donations this school year (School Year 2020-2021).

Pina also noted that every member of both the Foundation Board and Board of Trustees have donated to City on a Hill this school year. The Board discussed the financial impact of not having to rent a space to hold the Gala, as it was held virtually.

Pina then turned the Board's attention to a Development Proposal from A/B consulting, a organization that conducted 12 interviews with a diverse group of leading charter schools in the Boston area specifically regarding Development.

After collecting the data from the interviews, A/B consulting shared recommendations for City on a Hill's future in development. The recommendations included, but are not limited to, hiring or allocating a dedicated staff headcount to execute fundraising, generating a strategic communication plan to re-engage donors, as well as setting development metrics for the purpose of performance management.

VII. Leadership Transitions

A. Leadership Transitions

Kevin T. Taylor, Chief Executive Officer, shared that City on a Hill, as a one- school, boutique charter school as a result of the consolidation last year and surrender of the New Bedford charter, has decided to that it is in the best interests of the organization to return to an Executive Director model of leadership. Taylor shared that he has already completed one-on-one conversations about this shift with each Board member prior to the June 2021 meeting.

Taylor explained that the ED model was in effect before City on a Hill expanded to Dudley Square and New Bedford and the CEO model became necessary. Because of this, Taylor shared that the CEO position is being eliminated starting in the 2021-21 school year and Sonya Pratt, Chief of School, is recommended to be promoted to the role of Executive Director at City on a Hill.
