Pratt shared that the school was in the last stages of closing out the 2023-2024 school year, and that administrators would soon begin to pivot to planning for school year 2024-2025. She underscored ongoing efforts with the Department of Elementary and Secondary Education (DESE) concerning the School's closure process, the successful execution of graduation ceremonies, and stable enrollment forecasts for the forthcoming academic year. Furthermore, Pratt announced that schedules for Dual Enrollment programs with Wentworth College and Roxbury Community College have been successfully finalized, and that students would be picking their classes this week. She also provided an update on the sale of the school building, which is progressing as planned and is expected to continue throughout the summer. Additionally, she noted there are no hiring needs for school year 2024-25.

B. General Finance Updates

Ted Gildea directed the Board's attention to Diana Landry, the Business Manager at CentralSource. Landry presented the financial statements for City on a Hill, including the year-to-date budget versus actuals as of May 31, 2024, highlighting that the school is adhering to its budgetary objectives and is currently projecting a surplus for school year

2023-24 which it is currently managing to avoid having to return money to the state. Gildea confirmed that the Finance Committee met with Landry, Pratt and Pina earlier in the week to discuss the financials, and had no concerns about funding or expenses.

III. School Year 2024-25 Budget Discussion & Vote to Approve

A. School Year 2024-25 Budget Discussion

Next, Landry presented the FY2024-25 budget to the Board, confirming that, given the school's upcoming closure and related planning, the majority of the budget had already been discussed among the members. She explained that the budget is based on the school's pre-enrollment submission of 75 students, with flexibility to adjust down to 45 if necessary, while ideally targeting 68 students. Landry highlighted that personnel costs are allocated for 30 employees, including funds for three staff members who will remain on staff after June 2025 to handle closure-related tasks. She mentioned that administrative expenses cover various items, such as closure audits, outsourced accounting services, and IT support scheduled until October, with the potential to scale back by July. Additionally, she noted that the budget accommodates larger expenses, including $52,000 in rent paid to the City on a Hill Foundation. Finally, Landry emphasized the importance of maintaining flexibility in the budget to account for any changes in rent that may arise from a future owner of the Circuit Street building following its sale by the Foundation.
