G. Anonymous Complaint

PCA received an anonymous complaint related to religion in schools. Some of the complaints were based on the complainant's apparent misunderstanding of laws related to protection of students' 1st amendment rights, specifically student-led prayer and events (ie. Fellowship of Christian Athletes, FCA), and therefore are not actual violations. The other complaints that potentially could be violations happened several years ago and did not give specific information about the staff member alleged to be in violation. Given that, it is difficult to investigate. Therefore, Kylie sent a reminder of all guidelines related to prayer or other religious expression by staff members to all staff. This included that staff are not allowed to lead or encourage prayer or religious expression, but that they are also not allowed to discourage and deny a student's right to pray or express religious beliefs or treat student-led groups such as FCA any less favorably than other students groups.

**NOTE: While the Board is always made aware of any complaint, most anonymous complaints are not investigated or responded to in this way. Anonymous complaints that allege a violation of a person's rights or that are a potential safety concern will be investigated to the best of the school's ability, but may not always have a public response.*
