III. Leadership Report

A. Orientation Week / Development Days

Kathleen Foley walked the board through the plan for Orientation week for the staff. There are also a few days for new hires the week prior. They are working hard to ensure there is no repeat information in the schedules to maximize people's time. Kathleen also shared the current agenda items for staff development days through the school year.

B. Personnel Update

Julia Garcia updated the board on the current staffing levels going into the new school year:

- The new Talent Ed platform is allowing us to post to multiple websites including www.indeed.com all at the same time with a single post. We see more applications come from that site than others. This is not a site we have previously used.
- Kathleen Crawford discussed the organizational structure for FRCS and confirmed for everyone that both Human Resources and Finance have a dotted reporting line to the Board of Trustees.

- Salaries are still an issue with people leaving despite the attempt to stabilize them for the educational staff last school year. This did not include all of the support staff. All teachers are in high demand these days, but Special Education teachers are particularly difficult to retain and get offers accepted.
 - Karen Calvert reminded everyone that the Finance Department is working with an actuary to review all salaries across the school district to see what can be done to be more competitive and fair. This is happening in the next few weeks.
 - The discussion reviewed the change that Dr. Soria made last year in switching from a Merit-Based system to a scaled system. Many teachers were not happy with the switch from an evaluation to a feedback communication that was not linked to a merit base. The administration would like to survey the staff to see what system they would like to use this year.
- The school district has thirty-eight open positions equally distributed across all three schools.
 - Fourteen offers have been extended. Eleven were accepted, and one was a transfer from another role.
 - Eighteen resignations have been submitted since school ended. Eight this past week (7 days.)
 - Eleven of these positions were newly created since school ended.
 - Special Education offers have been rejected at a higher rate than other positions across the country, and we are feeling it.
 - Signing bonuses were considered, but the administration and board both feel this is unfair to exist staff.
