B. Staff Presentation: Academic Data

Mary Busby, Senior Director of Student Services and Special Education presented an overview of student performance data, noting positive trends and progress across all performance bands due to intentional instructional shifts. She highlights that the network's proficiency rates in ELA and Math exceed those of both West Contra Costa and Oakland Unified school districts. Additionally, she showcases progress for multilingual learners, emphasizing an increase in students meeting standards and a narrowing achievement gap for those receiving targeted support.

Dr. Walker, Principal of Benito Juarez Elementary, presented significant academic growth, highlighting that 36% of students met or exceeded ELA standards and 28% reached math proficiency, surpassing neighboring district averages. These gains are attributed to intentional instructional shifts, including the ASES program, SIPS literacy sessions, and weekly data driven coaching for all teachers. BJE successfully surpassed its previous year's proficiency projections of 22% in ELA and 19% in math. Following this success, the school has significantly raised its targets for the current year, challenging teachers to exceed even higher projected benchmarks. This ambitious goal is supported by the high-quality implementation of the iReady core curriculum and the use of data to target student needs.

Board member Davis asked about specific grade level success at BJE and asked if targeted efforts in first and second grade contributed to the increase in third grade performance.

Dr. Walker attributes the school's significant growth to the implementation of iReady curriculum, which allows staff to target core competencies like vocabulary for English Learner populations. This data driven approach has led to a projected 60% proficiency rate for third graders, supported by a daily routine where scholars complete 15 minutes of both reading and math practice at home.

Board Member Peter expressed concern that over 60% of third graders have not yet met ELA standards, noting that this grade level is an essential academic milestone. He questioned the school's strategy for addressing this performance gap and emphasized the importance of foundational support in first and second grade to ensure long term student success.

Dr. Walker explained that second grade is now treated as a pivotal year, with students remaining at school longer to match the schedule of upper elementary grades and better prepare for third grade content. She also highlighted the use of data driven programs to identify specific learning gaps and create interventions for students working both below and near grade level.

Board Chair Rodolfo commended the team's commitment to intervention, noting the difficulty of balancing elementary school curriculum. He specifically highlights the impressive achievement of a 14% decrease in students performing far below standard.

Mr. Lyons, the Dean of Instruction at Downtown Charter Academy, reported that 74% of students met or exceeded math standards and 78% did so in ELA, marking a record high for the school. He emphasized a shift toward tracking individual student growth via NWEA benchmark testing and improving academic performance through increased classroom discussion and targeted support for multilingual learners. DCA opted to continue using NWEA rather than switching to iReady to maintain data cohesion for their upcoming charter renewal.

Board member Peter asked about the school's specific strategy for closing the significant achievement gap currently existing between Asian and Latino students.

Mr. Lyons said DCA has five instructional tutors for targeted classroom support and they do small group sessions.

Board Chair Rodolfo asked what curriculum DCA uses.

Mr. Lyons said DCA uses Desmos currently and plans to supplement it with Illustrative Math lessons to achieve a better balance of digital and offline learning.

Dr. Ellingberg, Principal at Oakland Charter Academy reported that while math performance has remained largely stagnant over the past three years, ELA results show significant progress with over 20% fewer students failing to meet standards. He highlights record growth in ELA across multiple grade levels, resulting in OCA being recognized as a top growth school and details current strategies focused on data informed interventions and high quality instruction.

Vice Chair Margie asked if walkthroughs are the same across all school sites.

Mary explained that the leadership team is currently using a newly created instructional rubric to define rigor and conduct standardized classroom walkthroughs. She noted that the entire team used this tool earlier that day to evaluate student engagement as part of their ongoing effort to align instructional standards across the organization.

Board member Peter asked how often do teachers meet to evaluate student data.

Ms. Coleman, Director of Curriculum and Instruction explained that the leadership team recently analyzed mid year iReady assessment data to identify students with stagnant growth and implemented a 6 to 8 week plan for targeted instruction. This initiative includes using a standard specific tracker to monitor progress, conducting 1 on 1 goal setting conversations with students, and holding monthly meetings where teachers use daily exit tickets to plan immediate reteach lessons.

Ms. Landers, Principal at Richmond Charter Academy reported RCA maintained previous math gains and saw consistent ELA growth. To further accelerate learning, the school is focusing on evidence based coaching for Tier 1 instruction and has piloted small group interventions for Tier 3 students, showing early proficiency indicators of 26% in ELA and 19% in math.

Board Member Jorge asked how data and student knowledge is being applied to improve learning for diverse students.

Ms. Landers explained that RCA has prioritized small group instruction focused on vocabulary to specifically support their high population of English language learners. She noted that these targeted groups allow teachers to address individual student needs and improve decoding skills, which is expected to drive better overall reading comprehension compared to whole group instruction.

Board Member Davis asked about iReady's accuracy in terms of predictions.

Ms. Landers said iReady has been highly accurate in predicting end of year student performance. Their tool allows educators to visualize potential outcomes based on current progress providing a ballpark assessment that informs instructional decisions before it is too late to act.

Board member Peter mentioned that AMPS previously maintained a robust credentialing program to help teachers clear their credentials and enhance their instructional skills. He expresses concern over current SARC data showing a high number of teachers who currently lack clear credentials and asked how the staff is combating that.

Ms. Landers highlighted a successful Teach Start partnership with Scoot, a pipeline program that places intern teachers in classrooms while they work toward certification and receive additional professional development. She also noted the recent addition of a second credentialing pipeline program facilitated by the home office to further strengthen the school's long term talent pool.

Mr. Drakeford, Principal at John Henry High School reported significant growth in math proficiency due to reimagined classroom structures, such as dual-sided math notebooks and integrated SAT/SBAC prep, which they are now expanding to the 9th grade. While

ELA scores were stagnant due to previous staffing challenges, the school is now fully staffed and focused on professional development to replicate their math success across all departments.

Board member Davis asked if there is high retention pipeline of RCA students to JHHS.

Mr. Drakeford noted that many incoming students transition from RCA and he is working with Ms. Landers to review 8th grade academic data and implement early supports for struggling scholars as they enter the 9th grade.

Board member Peter notes that 42% of the student population are English learners and expresses concern that this demographic is currently in the red on the school's performance dashboard. He asks the leadership team to explain their current strategies and interventions specifically designed to support these students.

Mr. Drakeford reported that JHHS achieved 27% growth among multilingual learners on their SBAC assessments. To sustain this progress, the school is utilizing a bilingual instructional assistant and moving away from full translations to encourage students to engage more deeply with the core curriculum.

Board member Peter asked for the projected graduation percentages for the current academic year.

Mary said graduation rates were 94% in 2019, 79% in 2023, 94.4% in 2024, and 92.2% in 2025, graduating A-G.

Board Chair Rodolfo urged the leadership team to meticulously review four-year cohort graduation data before submitting it to CALPADS, noting that discrepancies often arise when enrolled students who never attend are still counted in official metrics. He asked the team about credit recovery.

Mary stated that the school utilizes the Edgenuity platform for credit recovery, primarily targeting 11th and 12th graders while requiring 9th graders to repeat Algebra in person.
