I. Opening Items

A.

- continuous development of the curriculum through assessment,
- contributing to the content of their disciplines through research, scholarship and/or creative activity, and
- service to the institution.

P. Marshall next talked about why evaluations are important per Article VIII (8) of the MSCA contract. These include:

- Making personnel decisions
- Encouraging and assessing professional and pedagogical experimentation AND
- Assisting members of the academic community in the improvement of performance.

P. Marshall stated the reasons why evaluations of faculty and librarians are conducted in higher education. These include:

- Ensuring academic quality
- Supporting pedagogical innovation and
- Providing for accountability in the process of shared governance

P. Marshall talked about the rigorous evaluation process and the annual reappointment levels of review required of tenure-track faculty members and librarians. The Deans play an important part in this process and the submission and review of materials is significant. The personnel calendar is always followed.

There was a discussion on student evaluations and response rates.

S. Levine discussed the review process of promotion and tenure and the large files of materials submitted. The Provost relies on the Deans evaluation whereas they allow for a deep dive into each candidate that applies for promotion and tenure. The Deans are important in helping to ensure academic quality.

The process for evaluations, promotion and tenure is rigorous, comprehensive, and includes multiple layers of review.

There was a discussion on Post Tenure Review and the appeal process.

L. Barrieau requested Personnel Committee meetings be scheduled prior to sabbatical, promotion and tenure requests to the full board.

III. Professional Development Opportunities

A. Ms. Jessica Murdoch will lead the discussion

J. Murdoch discussed in detailed the multiple professional development sessions offered to faculty, librarians and staff. The various groups are surveyed as a means to learn what employees would like to know more about when developing programming. She talked about the financial limitations associated when putting these programs together.

J. Murdoch noted that she meets with the unions on a regular basis as required by the contract. One of the outcomes from those meetings is a desire to develop a recognition program for staff whereas the faculty already have a recognition program in place. She noted that morale is really challenging, not just here, but across the state.

J. Murdoch stated that we have experts within our ranks that lead some of the sessions. Here are some of the programs offered:

Build a Basic Budget, Deaf 101, Keeping Safe on Social Media, Self-Care: Small Changes for Positive Results, How to Support LGBTQIA+ Employees in the Workplace, Being a Student Ready Campus, SMART Retirement & Beyond Webinar, Campus Safety Overview, Gentle Yoga and Mindfulness, How to Create a Respectful Workplace, 5 Google Features That Will Help Gain Back Time in Your Day, Community Response to Active Shooter/Hostile Event, Understand and Embrace Diversity, and many others.

J. Murdoch noted that these programs are offered to everyone. The Human Resources staff try to engage our faculty and staff by sending reminders about the various professional development sessions.

IV. President's Evaluation Process

A. Annual Presidential Evaluation Outline

L. Barrieau stated that at the Trustee Retreat in June, the Board talked about looking at a different presidential evaluation process which was referred to the personnel committee. There are other ways of doing the presidential evaluation and she thought it would be a good idea to look how others perform this important work. There is an outline in the packet that suggested incorporating stake holders in the evaluation. One of the methods is for the President to do a self-evaluation. She said it's hard to know next steps as we develop a new process and input from the committee is needed to bring to the full Board.

M. Fiorentino noted that it's important that the Board agree on the process to be used before the new President is on board. We have current guidelines from the Board of Higher Education and those can be used as a beginning point. It is important for the entire Board to participate in the President's evaluation. It is imperative that Board members understand the process.

There was a discussion on the Commissioner's process, looking at different models, and having someone from the BHE interview the President.

L. Barrieau stated that she would reach out to someone at the Board of Higher Education to continue the conversation. She did include in the packet the materials from the Trustee Conference that provides an example.

R. Lapidus provided his perspective on the process. He agreed with what had been said. He noted that the new Commissioner has not changed the guidelines yet and he is not sure if they will be changed. He reminded the group that the evaluation process is unusual with the split weight of the evaluation between the BOT and the Commissioner along with only using cost of living as compensation. He said equity, merit and cost of living are often used interchangeably, but that they are different and that presidential candidates may not take the job without knowing what the evaluation process and compensation adjustments entail. He noted the materials presented in the packet are dated and, in many cases, have not been performed at Fitchburg State or at most of our sister institutions to his knowledge.

L. Barrieau stated that what we need as a Board is for someone from the Board of Higher Education to explain the process.

E. Gregoire acknowledged that the current process is not changing, but we need to operate within those guidelines and get clarity to figure out our responsibilities and expectations and stay up to speed.

There was a discussion on the BHE guidelines, strategic plans and the equity agenda, and metrics for presidential evaluations.

M. Fiorentino said it is important that we move forward on what is a presidential evaluation for this university and the next President. We need a step-by-step process and it will take some conversation. He is not suggesting a long-complicated process, but agreement on what are the best practices within the BHE guidelines. He acknowledged a key point from the President, stating that anyone coming in for an interview is also interviewing the BOT as well and if we don't articulate what the process is, it will be a problem.

L. Barrieau said that at the next meeting, she will put something together. She next requested budget related reports regarding faculty and staff hires. As people leave and are replaced, what does that mean to the budget.

E. Gregoire shared his thoughts surrounding the reporting of FTE's and position management, and what are the salary savings for this budget year and the 3-month hiring freeze.

J. Murdoch stated that she will coordinate with campus colleagues and put the data together for the next meeting.

Our 12th president will build upon the legacy of Richard S. Lapidus, who has announced his intention to retire following the 2023-24 academic year. In his nine years leading Fitchburg State, he has prioritized student success, guided the creation and implementation of groundbreaking academic programs, led the expansion of online offerings and strengthened the ties between the university and the city in which it resides.

Since its founding in 1894, Fitchburg State has been a leader in the educational, cultural and civic life of the region. Its 58,000 alumni span the globe, as leaders in their disciplines and pillars of their communities. Following a long period of capital investment in the heart of the campus, recent growth at the institution has centered on programmatic enhancements that will continue to distinguish Fitchburg State among the public and private institutions that comprise the robust higher education landscape of Massachusetts.

This national search begins with the conviction that Fitchburg State is poised to capitalize on continued growth and innovation in a changing landscape. While the institution has evolved over its long history, its core values endure, and the university will continue its progress with bold leadership and the cooperation of a committed and engaged campus community.

Our search process will continue to engage diverse constituencies of students, faculty, staff and community members to whom Fitchburg State University is so vital. Our goal is to identify a leader who can confidently embrace and promote all that lies at the heart of our endeavor, who is prepared to move us to higher levels, building upon a strong and proven foundation.

C. DEBORAH PHILLIPS, Chair, Board of Trustees

OVERVIEW

For more than a century, from a rented building with 46 students and five faculty to today's expansive high-tech campus and far-reaching influence, Fitchburg State University has held to its timeless mission of providing access to a quality education.

Today, Fitchburg State enrolls more than 6,500 day and evening students in more than 50 programs of study. The institution successfully completed a comprehensive accreditation review in 2022, and is guided by a strategic plan focused on education justice. Its recently adopted academic plan echoes the theme of education justice and the importance of being a student-ready campus.

The university has also embraced its host community, including robust partnerships with educational, civic and business organizations, along with significant capital investments in the city center. One major acquisition was the purchase of a long-vacant theater building on Main Street. Portions of the theater block have already been redeveloped into a state-of-the-art game design studio for university students, as well as an interdisciplinary ideaLab that has helped launch and support dozens of new businesses, many launched by recent immigrants to the U.S.

The university, as part of the system of public higher education, is also deeply engaged in statewide projects overseen by the Department of Higher Education, which encourages collaboration among educational institutions and increased interaction with business and industry.

Massachusetts Board and Department of Higher Education

The Massachusetts Board of Higher Education ("Board" or "BHE") is the Commonwealth's higher education authority with coordinating and regulatory authority over all public and private higher education institutions operating in the Commonwealth and authorized to grant degrees. The Board is staffed by the Department of Higher Education (the Department), which is run by a Commissioner who serves as the executive and administrative head of the Department, and Secretary to the Board. Together, the Board and Department are the leading voice and advocate for post-secondary education in the Commonwealth, serving critical roles as the state's regulator of state authorization and consumer protection.

Fitchburg State University is part of the Massachusetts System of Public Higher Education ("System"). The System serves approximately 290,000 students annually. The System consists of 15 community colleges, nine state universities and five University of Massachusetts ("UMass") campuses. The System exists to provide accessible, affordable, relevant, and rigorous programs that adapt to meet changing individual and societal needs for education and employment. Each community college and state university institution has its own board of trustees, while the five UMass campuses are overseen by the UMass Board of Trustees.

The Board of Higher Education has coordination and oversight responsibilities for the entire System, including the responsibility to analyze the present and future goals, needs and requirements of public higher education and to establish goals to achieve a well-coordinated, quality system of public higher education. The Board is also responsible for approving the appointments of, and setting the compensation for, all Community College and State University presidents. Under the direction of the Board and Department, the System is committed to the equitable provision of high-quality postsecondary learning opportunities for all of Massachusetts' residents.

OPPORTUNITIES AND EXPECTATIONS

The next president of Fitchburg State University will have the opportunity to build on the long, rich history of the campus and its commitment to North Central Massachusetts. As this successful institution moves into a period of uncertainty facing all colleges and universities, the new president can take advantage of a track record of resilience, innovation, adaptability, and forward-looking leadership that has positioned Fitchburg State University to further advance its mission and impact in the future. The new president will be expected to address the following challenges and opportunities as they undertake this new role.

Collaboratively Envision Future Opportunities and Strategies

Story after story in the national media outlines the challenges facing colleges and universities in the coming years. The next Fitchburg State president must embrace those challenges with energy, drive, and creativity. The president will provide leadership for developing a clear and compelling vision for the future that builds on the university's distinguished history as a liberal arts and teacher-training college and the university's evolution to a comprehensive, regional university. There have recently been a number of assessment and strategic planning efforts—from NECHE accreditation work to a self-led financial planning exercise—and the university is in the later stages of its current strategic plan. The next Fitchburg State president will be expected to evaluate the data gathered through this work, engage the university's many constituents in thinking about the future, and shape a long-term strategy for the institution. The president will have willing partners across campus and in the community, who want to participate in the university's continued success and this individual must embrace those partners.

Communicate Clearly About New Directions and Move to Implement

Fitchburg State's rich legacy, talented faculty and staff, and commitment to transforming the lives of the diverse student body it serves will anchor the institution in its exploration of new possibilities in curriculum, technology, and student engagement. After developing a clear plan for the short and long term, the next president must move carefully yet swiftly to implement this vision. A number of constituents on campus have invested in the various assessment exercises undertaken in recent years, and while the university continues to experience success, the time for moving forward boldly is now. The next Fitchburg State president will be expected to make decisions about the future of the university, clearly communicate those decisions, and marshal campus constituents to implement them expediently.

Continue to Explore and Expand New Offerings and Serve Diverse Student Populations

The ongoing challenge that US higher education faces is the decline of the traditional undergraduate student population. Demographic shifts are contributing to a long-term decline in this group, and many campuses are seeing this trend already manifesting. The good news is that Fitchburg State has been forward-looking in online education, development of graduate programs, support of commuter students, and opportunities for students to get practical, hands-on learning experience. The university has created academic programs that are in demand and aligned with the needs of the communities it serves, including offerings in biotechnology, engineering technology, construction management, health professions, digital media innovation, and game design, as well as programs pending approval in creative arts enterprise and expressive arts therapy. The university's Police Concentration Program is the only one of its kind in the nation. This innovation will need to continue and expand to ensure healthy enrollment and a positive impact on the region, including continuing to provide opportunities for first-generation students and students from challenging socioeconomic backgrounds. Potential areas of growth that have already shown promise are international student recruitment, degree completion programs, and adult/mid-career graduate students. Experience in any or all of these areas would be advantageous for the next president. The president will also need to ensure alignment between the School of Graduate, Online, and Continuing Education and the broader university as program offerings and the student population continue to diversify.

Enhance the Fitchburg State Community

As constituents across campus stated repeatedly, the commitment of every staff person and faculty member at Fitchburg State to students and their success has been and continues to be unwavering. This dedication is palpable and reflected in the experiences of students themselves. Following the pandemic, there has been some fatigue in the Fitchburg State community, requiring a president who is sensitive to the experiences of faculty, staff, and students and the ability to rally the community around its shared mission and goals. The next Fitchburg State president must have deep experience building a positive culture that nourishes and supports faculty and staff while ensuring the continued success of a diversifying student body. This individual must be visible, approachable, empathetic, and transparent as the university faces challenging decisions in the future. In addition, the university seeks a president who will model and support a collaborative leadership culture that values contributions from all constituents.

Engage External Partners in Advancing Shared Goals

The university's next president will lead Fitchburg State's efforts to build positive relationships and impactful partnerships with its 55,000-person alumni base, city and regional leaders, local civic and social organizations, education-focused foundations, and businesses employing the accomplished graduates of Fitchburg State, among others. Recent efforts include the university's engagement in the revitalization of downtown Fitchburg through its ideaLab and the current Theater Block project. The next president must have a commitment to partnering with external constituents to think through creative initiatives that will not only provide academic and curricular opportunities for students, but also support the continued development of the city and the region. Experience and success in building relationships with state and federal legislators will also be vital skills of the new president, as this work has yielded good results in the past. This individual must be able to effectively communicate the university's impact locally and regionally and partner with the university's advancement team and others to identify resources and donors to help support the institution's work.

PROFESSIONAL QUALIFICATIONS & PERSONAL QUALITIES

The successful candidate must have:

- A well-documented history of organizational leadership and proven success in meeting specific performance goals and objectives.
- An earned doctorate (including but not limited to a Ph.D., J.D., or Ed.D.), coupled with substantial experience relevant to the segmental mission and needs of the institution. Presidential Selection Process

Interested candidates should review the Massachusetts Board of Higher Education Guidelines and Procedures for the Search, Selection, Appointment and Removal of State University and Community College Presidents. The application process will be confidential through the first round of interviews, which are currently scheduled to take place in early 2024. After the first round is concluded, the search committee will recommend to the Board of Trustees three to five finalists for consideration. Finalists will be invited to campus for a series of open meetings with various constituencies in Spring 2024. The Board of Higher Education and the Commissioner of Higher Education will have the opportunity to interview finalists as part of the campus visit process. Following the campus visits, the Board of Trustees will vote in open session to recommend to the Board of Higher Education the appointment of a single candidate as president. The Board of Higher Education must approve the appointment, the salary, and all terms and conditions of employment for the president.

Procedure for Candidacy

All applications, nominations and inquiries are invited. Applications should include, as separate documents, a letter of interest addressing the themes in this profile and a CV or resume. PRESIDENT

Presidential GOALS: Update to the Board of Trustees

July 1, 2024 – January 31, 2025

NOTE: The updates included here were made possible through the collaboration, creativity, and incredible efforts of Cabinet-level leadership, faculty, librarians, staff, student leaders, and numerous campus (and community) stakeholders

TRANSFORM

Develop and Communicate a Strategic Vision

Goal: Evaluate current strategic and academic plans with key stakeholders. Collaboratively establish a clear vision and actionable priorities aligned with Fitchburg State's mission, focusing on student success, equity, and education justice. Begin addressing demographic shifts and declining undergraduate enrollment by advancing recruitment strategies, particularly targeting first-generation, adult learners, and international students.

Strategic Reorganization

- Realigned Senior Leadership, Phase 1:

- Elevated Dr. Patricia Marshall to the dual role of Executive Vice President and Provost, aligning academic leadership with institutional strategy.
- Off-boarded long-serving VPFA and brought in an interim CFO to develop a transparent budget format. Upon her retirement in November, appointed Heidi Swift, a former Comptroller and Budget Director with extensive state experience, as Executive in Charge of Finance.
- Integrated Athletics and University Police into the Office of the President, with Chief Michael Cloutier and Athletics Director Matt Burke joining the Cabinet for improved alignment.
- Hired Stacey Luster as the university's first Vice President of Personnel and General Counsel, driving policy development, collective bargaining, and enhanced support for employees. This hire was made possible by the departure of long-time HR leader, enabling a strategic reorganization of Human Resources, Payroll, and the creation of a General Counsel Office.
- Managed $\frac{3}{5}$ VP-level transitions in 3-month period.
- Established Office of Research and Sponsored Programs (ORSP) in order to support and elevate the academic possibilities and responsibilities of grant-writing with no new resources; this move allows me to hold Advancement accountable for actual funds raised through donor, corporate, and foundation pipelines. These teams will continue to collaborate on grant submissions, when necessary, in order to leverage all available resources.
- Hired first Executive Director of Diversity, Equity, and Belonging, Josh Dodds, who has extensive experience in executive communications, interdisciplinary best practices in professional development, corporate and higher education program building; he will work collaboratively across all divisions, with particular supports in Student Affairs (managing the CDI Office) and in partnership with Human Resources. Serves as our liaison to the COP for state initiatives in DEIB.

Engaging and Elevating Campus Stakeholders

- Presidential Ambassadors Program: Launched a student leadership initiative involving nine participants who serve as advisors and institutional representatives at high-profile events.
- Presidential Fellows Program: Established a program for faculty and librarians, with nine Fellows currently serving, providing advisory input on institutional strategy, research priorities, and campus development.
- Nominated Dr. Erin Rehrig, Chair of the Department of Biology and Chemistry, to the AASCU Department Chair Academy, where she is now part of the 2024–2025 cohort.
- Hosted 18 (small) official events at the President’s House to foster collaboration and collect feedback on Fitchburg State’s vision. These included:
 - Halloween with SGA
 - Holiday Party with Community Leaders, Trustees, Legislators, and Donors
 - Welcoming German Delegation from Rhine-Waal University and faculty.
- Regularly engaged with the Council of Presidents, contributing to statewide policy and strategy discussions.
- Supported the Chamber’s Young Professionals Program and the Chamber Leadership Institute (CLI) by sponsoring two emerging leaders to join the 2024-2025 CLI cohort and speaking at a fall CLI event.
- Held regular meetings with all union stewards, resulting in 0 grievances to date compared to over 20 at the same time last year.

Expanded Engagement with National Networks

- Completed the AASCU New Presidents Academy (June 2024 – December 2024), gaining tools and strategies to strengthen leadership.
- Nominated for AASCU’s International Recruitment Committee, working for international programs and statewide partnerships with Mexico and Canada to create a pipeline to our State Publics in New England.
- Joined AASCU’s Government Relations Committee, elevating the mission of our campus and national State Publics in Washington D.C. (will attend joint meeting in D.C. in April)
- Selected for the Excelencia in Education President’s Network (January 2025), joining a national cohort committed to advancing equity and Latino student success, providing a critical resource as Fitchburg State pursues Hispanic Serving Institution (HSI) designation.
- Attended the NCAA National Convention in January 2025; engaged with national leadership in collegiate athletics and at D3 level; met for annual in-person MASCAC legislative agenda-setting.
- Received an invitation from partners at Rhine-Waal University to formalize the partnership agreement at an event in Germany during the summer of 2025. This event will also include the formalization of “sister cities” partnerships in Germany and Poland. I will be accompanied by Dr. Franca Barricelli (AVP Academic Affairs), State Representative and alum Michael Kushmerek, and Fitchburg Mayor Sam Squalia.

Foster Campus Unity and Culture

Goal: Build relationships with faculty, staff, students, alumni, and community partners by maintaining an active presence on campus and in the community. Address post-pandemic fatigue by promoting transparency, open communication, and morale-boosting initiatives.

Leadership Visibility and Transparency

- Established a collaborative Cabinet structure with meaningful weekly working meetings to align cross-divisional strategies.
- Partnered with Chartwells Dining Services to sponsor $5 meals for employees and provide free branded drink refills, enhancing campus morale. In fall 2024, 3109 employee meals were served; as of January 25, spring 2025 meals are at 301. Surveys suggest both food quality and service have radically improved (at 4.5 versus a 1.5 this time last year)
- Attended an average of three athletic events per week during the fall semester and two per week at the start of winter, maintaining visibility and connection with student-athletes, coaches, and supporters.

- Attending all Homecoming events; successfully moved our pep rally to the main quad to elevate and extend the reach of that event; attended 3 games, hosted Presidential Tailgate at Elliot Field;
- Established Official Presidential Social Media accounts, including Instagram, Facebook, Threads, and LinkedIn.
- Created a new Presidential Website where all campus communications are archived and accessible to all.
- Worked with AUC leadership and MSCA to pass AUC 1 and 2 during fall 2024 to move dates for move-in to better align with class start dates and to eliminate December commencement, based on recommendations from the 2023 Financial Sustainability Task Force (FSTF)
- Met with leadership from the FSTF to better understand what issues could be addressed immediately and what could be done over a longer period; some of these items have already been completed.

Community and Cultural Leadership

- Hosted the Student Government Association (SGA) Executive Board in the President's Conference Room for their bi-monthly executive committee meetings, providing a regular avenue for engaging student leaders.
- Established FISA, the first graduate student organization, formalizing the Fitchburg India Students Association.
- Joined the Fitchburg Art Museum Board of Directors (December 2024), strengthening ties with a key cultural partner.
- Attended and supported cultural events, including Diwali, Hispanic Heritage Month, LGBTQ+ History Month, and the Downtown Fitchburg Holiday Lighting, showcasing inclusivity and community connection.
- Partnered with the Chamber to host a Young Professionals Fashion Event on campus, further strengthening connections with emerging professionals.
- Collaborated with the Community Foundation to host the Women's Luncheon on campus in March 2025, where I will serve as the keynote speaker.
- Created the President's Pavilion events at Eliot Field for all field games (soccer, football, and field hockey) and at the Wallace Civic Center for ice hockey games. These events hosted dignitaries, parents, families, athletic prospects, employees, legislators, students, community members, and trustees, fostering deeper engagement and showcasing Fitchburg State's hospitality.
- Hosted International students (and others) for Thanksgiving.

Enhance Enrollment Management

Goal: Expand enrollment strategies by supporting innovative programs, including online and hybrid offerings, and focusing on retention of first-year students. Launch targeted outreach campaigns to underserved populations in North Central Massachusetts to enhance access.

MEMORANDUM

TO: Community College and State University Board Chairs

FROM: Carlos E. Santiago, Commissioner

CC: Community College and State University Presidents

DATE: April 6, 2021

SUBJECT: FY2021 Presidential Evaluations — Timeline and Statewide Priorities
The purpose of this memorandum is to outline the process and timeline for conducting presidential evaluations this year, and to confirm the Board of Higher Education's (BHE) statewide and system priorities for academic year 2020-2021 (FY2021).

2020-2021 BHE Statewide Priority Objectives — The Equity Agenda and Responses to COVID-19: Under the BHE's Presidential Evaluation Guidelines, one of my responsibilities as Commissioner is to inform presidents and trustees of the system-level (i.e., statewide) objectives of the BHE for each academic year. The full text of the BHE guidelines on presidential evaluations and compensation may be accessed here: BHE Presidential Compensation and Evaluation Guidelines.

Academic year 2020-2021 has been one of the most challenging in anyone's memory. The COVID-19 pandemic has had a devastating impact on our society and economy, and much remains uncertain about its long-term effects. In the higher education sector, colleges and universities both here and across the country have experienced declines in enrollment, previously unanticipated revenue losses, and higher costs stemming from pandemic mitigation and response efforts. Federal funding has helped close part of the financial gap created or exacerbated by the pandemic to date, and the leadership within our public higher education system has been innovative and proactive in implementing adaptive measures to grapple with the challenges brought on by the virus.

Still, there is widespread acknowledgment of the disproportionate impacts of the pandemic on our students of color and low-income students. Now more than ever, it is vitally important that we maintain our commitment to and focus on the overarching Equity Agenda and campus efforts to improve success rates for all students.

Accordingly, as I announced during the Department's October 2020 Statewide Trustee Convening, the statewide priorities for academic year 2020-2021 will be essentially the same as last academic year: The Equity Agenda, plus pandemic-response efforts.

The Equity Agenda: I am again asking each local Board of Trustees to continue to focus on our overarching Equity Agenda, and campus efforts to significantly raise the enrollment, attainment, and long-term success outcomes among traditionally underserved student populations, particularly racially minoritized students. As in prior years, I ask that you include in your respective Presidential evaluations three to five examples of initiatives that highlight how your institution has become more student-centered and equity-minded. Please include relevant data, either quantitative or qualitative. To that end, relevant BHE materials that you may find helpful as your frame your submissions include the following:

- Equity-Minded Goalsetting Presentation, and BHE 20-11 May 2020 DHE Presentation to the BHE and vote; and
- Equity Agenda Update, February 2021 DHE Presentation to the BHE (slide 4 on participatory leadership is particularly instructive).

Pandemic-response efforts: Our individual and collective work responding to the pandemic within the public higher education system has been significant, of critical importance, and, by all accounts, has required each President's considerable time and attention. Therefore, in addition to the Equity Agenda criteria outlined above, I ask that you include information on your President's efforts to respond to, contain and mitigate the impacts of the COVID-19 pandemic within your respective campus communities, and in the administration of your institution's resources. I welcome and look forward to reviewing your comments and observations on this important work.

Performance Measurement Reports (Data Dashboards): The BHE Presidential Evaluation guidelines require that evaluations of presidential work consider and include institutional data linked to system-level goals and metrics. (See Section III.B). In May 2019, DHE launched the Performance Measurement Reporting System (PMRS), a public-facing data tool intended to prompt constructive conversations about performance and accountability between and among DHE, the campuses, boards of trustees, legislators, and others, and specifically to assist campuses in fulfilling this requirement of the President Evaluation Guidelines. The Reports summarize campus performance on a robust set of key indicators approved by the BHE in December 2018 (See BHE 19-02), including comparisons where appropriate to the institution's segmental peers in Massachusetts or a national peer group of similarly situated institutions. The Reports also offer insight into gaps between different racial/ethnic, gender and income groups on many of the metrics and offer examples of campus best practices and innovations that are driving improvements in performance. We anticipate that this year's Reports (Data Dashboards) will be live and available to view by Presidents and Trustees in mid-April.

Presidential Evaluations Timeline: Consistent with the process we have used in prior years, the deadline for the completion and submission of presidential evaluations is June. However, we recognize that the timing of your presidential evaluation committee meetings, local board meeting schedules and other competing priorities may make it challenging to complete this important work within this timeframe. We, therefore, do allow for exceptions on a case-by-case basis. I have found this timetable and exception process to be effective and am not aware of any significant problems. Accordingly, I ask that you and your boards complete this year's evaluations by June 30, 2021. If this is not realistic given your board meeting schedule, or if you have any other questions or concerns about this timeline, please work with Director of Trustee and Government Relations Matt Noyes (MNoyes@dhe.mass.edu or 781-605-4434).

Presidential Evaluations Process: I believe that the process of presidential evaluations used in prior years was useful. Having an opportunity to review the campus documentation and dashboards as part of one-on-one, in-person discussions with presidents proved, from my perspective, to be very helpful in understanding each institution's performance and presidential leadership over the previous year. Therefore, I will be continuing the process again this year. In addition, as in prior years, to streamline the submission process and to provide consistency among trustee submissions, I am requesting that boards of trustees continue to submit a one to two-page executive summary of the Board's evaluation of the president. The Board's summary should include the following:

- a summary of the process your board used to conduct the review;
- performance data used to support your board's conclusions and recommendations;
- your board's recommendation regarding a proposed compensation adjustment; and
- a summary which addresses the two areas of presidential responsibility (e.g., one section for institutional goals and objectives, and a separate section on statewide priority objectives).

Supporting materials and documents should be sent only to the extent that they relate to points addressed in the executive summary. I found presidential self-evaluations to be useful documents as well.

New and Retiring Presidents: We have several presidents who will be retiring or moving on to other opportunities during or at the completion of this year, with five open and pending presidential searches. Since the BHE guidelines were issued, it has been the practice of the DHE not to expect presidential evaluations from institutions where: 1) a president has been in office for less than one full year, or 2) a president has left office during or upon the completion of the academic year. While a presidential evaluation is not required in these two circumstances, it is a sound practice to periodically conduct institutional assessments regardless of the status of the president. If your board has already conducted an evaluation for a new or retired president or, alternatively, if you have instead conducted an institutional evaluation or assessment (for example, in preparation for a presidential search or transition), I would appreciate receiving copies of the same.

Periodic Comprehensive Reviews: The BHE Presidential Evaluation Guidelines ask trustees to conduct comprehensive reviews of presidential performance, no less than three years from the appointment of new presidents, and no less than every five years thereafter. (See Section III). A comprehensive review is intended to be broader than an annual review, both in terms of scope and process. While an annual review is reflective and tends to focus on the accomplishment of past objectives, a comprehensive review is intended to be more forward-thinking, focusing on a President's ability to lead going forward. Through this memorandum, I am asking each of you to review whether you have conducted a comprehensive review of the president of your respective institutions in the past three to five years. If you have not, I ask that you conduct such a review in either FY2022 or FY2023 and notify Director of Trustee and Government Relations Matt Noyes (MNoyes@dhe.mass.edu or 781-605-4434) of your proposed timeline.

Thank you for your attention to these matters and for all your good work on behalf of Massachusetts public higher education.
