- There are scheduled family engagement events this spring semester that will report academic data to Edison's students and families.

B. Academic Dashboard

Areas of Growth

- A. Berns discussed that there was academic growth in all assessments. There were positive gains in math for every grade level. 3rd grade students had a 25% increase in academic performance in comparison to beginning of the school year assessments and middle of the year assessments.

Academic Goals

- G. Wallis posed the question of how Edison identifies and compares academic goals.
 - A. Berns explained that beginning of the year assessments in comparison to the first week of October assessments are the result of interim academic reports. The beginning of the year assessments in comparison to December assessments are the result of middle of the report academic reports. The final school year academic assessment will take place in spring 2019.
 - N. Tuttle discussed that 75% of students performing at or approaching proficiency in all academic areas is Edison's academic goal. Data analysis has shown how benchmark testing, curriculum and K-8th grade classroom walkthroughs have identified student's areas of growth.
 - A. Berns discussed how Airways testing software provides immediate feedback and identifies students' areas of growth. The software doesn't provide a specific percentage to measure/ compare academic goals.

Suspensions

- A. Berns discussed that the suspension level has declined since mid fall 2018 semester.

Attendance and Enrollment

- A. Berns explained that the lowered attendance percentage was the result of transient ESL students whose families seasonally relocate.

- G. Wallis suggested that future academic dashboard reflect weekly attendance and enrollment trends.
