B. Mission Connection: College Access & Admission Case Study

Activity: College and Case Study Activity

Objective: To understand the college admissions process and the different items considered by colleges.

Board members engaged in an activity where they played the role of a college admissions group considering three mock applicants and weighed them against the profile of a mock college. In their role, the board members had to determine who would be admitted, waitlisted, or rejected.

This activity is an integral part of the annual Case Study and College Fair (not held in 2019 due to construction).

Key Takeaways:

- This is a difficult decision for admission officers to make.
