IV. Public Comment*

A. Public Comment

On the subject of a collaboration with district public schools on remote learning options, Judith Jones suggested a proposal that the Charter School Commission work with the Maine Department of Education to introduce a bill to state legislature removing the enrollment cap of 500 on each of the virtual charter schools and to encourage partnerships between charter public schools and district public schools for remote learning.

Ryan Anthony, Head of School at Maine Academy of Natural Sciences shared that the school is reducing their rate of chronic absenteeism. He attributed the decline to their advisory model, engaging classes and intensives program for each grade.

V. Presentation(s)

A. Presentation to Commissioner Makin

Lana provided a summary of the Maine Charter School's Annual Report provided to Commissioner Makin.

Demographic highlights are:

- Currently there are 2,834 students in the portfolio less than 2% of Maine's total student population. 46% of students are economically disadvantaged and 23% of students are on IEPs.
- Enrollment is up about 4% this year mainly due to Maine Arts Academy's addition of a middle school. There is a 40% increase in wait lists primarily driven by demand for the two virtual schools that have a legislative cap of 1000 students.
- Students from 144 districts or 304 cities, towns and unorganized territories are represented at charter schools. Ethnic and gender make ups trend at the state average, and 16 languages are spoken this year.

Public Charter School highlights are:

- In the spring, the Commission approved Moxie Public School as the 10th allowed charter school which will open in the fall of 2026. The school will begin with grades 6 and 9 and grow by two grades each year to form a complete grade 6-12 program. Their mission is to provide rigorous academics with personalized learning models using whole child supports.
- Maine Arts Academy successfully opened their middle school this fall.
- Fiddlehead School has doubled its Pre-k enrollment this year.
- Maine Academy of Natural Sciences won 1st place in the State Envirothon held last year.

Strengths across the portfolio are:

- Reading proficiency and growth.
- Math growth.
- Graduation rates and post-secondary readiness are strong. A large percentage of students participate in post-secondary activities. Amy will provide the overall graduation rate for Commissioner Makin.
- Surveyed satisfaction rates for family and teachers and staff are strong.

- Student persistence, students who stay in the schools, is strong. 7% of the incoming class last year were home schooled and 2% were from private schools.

Growth areas across the portfolio are:

- Math proficiency.
- Chronic absenteeism rates in half of schools are higher than desired.

Lana noted the Commission will host a Hall of Flags event again this year in May and she invited Commissioner Makin and her team to attend.

Questions from the Commissioner were:
How many campuses exist in the portfolio?
Community Regional Charter School has 3 campuses currently but would like to consolidate. The other 9 schools each have one campus. Moxie will open one school in the fall and in its application proposed multiple sites in the future. The Commission will approve an additional site depending on the success of the initial school.
How many Pre-K students have IEPs?
Lana noted that Fiddlehead School, ACADIA Academy and Community Regional Charter Schools have a Pre-K program. She will reach out to these schools to find out how many have IEPs and will report back.

Commissioner Makin offered thanks for work of the Commission and for the report.

VI. Executive Director/Commission Staff Report

A. School Updates

Lana reported the following school updates:

Maine Connections Academy has a student nominated to the US Naval Academy.

Moxie Public Schools has secured its facility at 123 Darling Avenue, South Portland and is in the midst of renovating the building for school needs. They are holding an open house on January 27th from 4:30 to 6:30. A parent zoom call is available on January 20th from 7 to 8:15.
They are actively accepting students and are working with a consultant to support community mapping and engagement.

CRCS held two events in December to support families in the holiday season. A Giving Room event allowed families to shop at no cost for donated gifts. The Gift of Giving, a virtual angel tree, was also held. (Newspaper article - Lana will send). The school will also represent Somerset County in WinterKids again this year.

Maine Arts students have been working with Michel Cyr a local artist on still life drawings. Art students were able to display and sell their art at his Hallowell gallery. The school also held their winter recital for music and dance with overflowing attendance.

B. Organizational Updates

Lana provided the following updates:

- Lana will present to the Kennebec Valley Superintendents Association on Thursday, January 14th.
- Staff has been engaging in the Mid-Year Meetings with all the schools this week and next week.
- Staff has been clarifying language in the Performance Framework. The goal is to hold a Commission vote on the revisions during the February meeting.
- A mid-year progress report on the Commission's four strategic priority goals.

Tom noted that the Framework provides a mirror to the schools, but the Commission does not dictate the methods/materials. He wondered if there is a way to bring this to a wider audience to support education at large.

C. Media Updates

VII. Monthly School Portfolio/Data Report

A. 2025 Boards and Commissions Report

Amy described the 2025 Boards and Commissions Report. It is required to be filed by December 31 each year and contains a report for each meeting held during the year and details attendees and costs for each meeting. This report will continue to be required even with the change in organization.

B. SY2025-26 Student Demographic Data Breakdowns

Amy reviewed the student demographic data for SY2025-26 and shared the following highlights:

- 2,834 students are enrolled in Maine Charter Public Schools, an increase of 117 from last year.
- 714 students are on a wait list, an increase of 218 from last year.
- 22.76 % of students are on an Individualized Education Program ("IEP"). This is slightly above the state average.
- 45.69% are economically disadvantaged which is on par with state average. This includes 80% of Maine Academy of Natural Sciences students and 70% of Community Regional Charter School students.
- Students come from 144 districts and 304 Maine towns, cities and organized territories.

Amy is working on a listing of lawmakers representing the towns where students reside. The listing will include contact information for the lawmakers so that schools connect with them. An updated Heat Map is also being planned.

Leigh inquired about the drop in enrollment from 11th grade to 12th grade for several schools and the comparison of the attrition rate to district public schools. Amy noted this will be a discussion point at the upcoming mid-year meetings with schools and that she will follow up with the Maine Department of Education ("MDOE") team to determine if there is comparison data available.
