It empowers the Executive Director to develop procedures and guidelines, emphasizing the need for digital literacy, privacy rights, and responsible use of electronic resources.

E. Second Read Policy and Procedure 3231 Student Records	Discuss	Steven Carney	1 m

Background: The combined Policy and Procedure on Student Records establishes the guidelines for the school's management and protection of student information in compliance with state and federal laws. The Policy emphasizes the importance of maintaining student records for educational guidance, operational efficiency, and legal requirements. It highlights that student records are the property of the school while ensuring access to students and parents in an orderly and timely manner.

The Procedure defines education records and provides examples of the information contained within them, such as cumulative folders, supplementary records, and other relevant records. It outlines the general rights of parents and eligible students under the Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act (FERPA), including the rights to access, seek amendment, and consent to disclosure of personally identifiable information from education records. The Procedure also explains the exceptions to consent for disclosure, such as disclosure to school officials, other schools, and for directory information.

Additionally, the Procedure addresses the process for amendment of education records, the retention of student records according to state records retention schedules, and the release of records to other school agencies or organizations. It clarifies the circumstances under which grades, transcripts, or diplomas may be withheld, such as outstanding fees or fines. The Procedure also acknowledges the need for parental or adult student consent for the release of records, with exceptions as provided by law.

Overall, the combined Policy and Procedure on Student Records underscores the school's commitment to safeguarding student information while facilitating appropriate access for educational purposes and legal compliance. It establishes clear guidelines for the management, disclosure, and retention of student records, ensuring transparency and protection of privacy rights.

F. Second Read Policy and Procedure 3208 Prohibition of Harassment, Intimidation, and Bullying	Vote	Steven Carney	1 m

Background: The Prohibition of Harassment, Intimidation, and Bullying Policy and Procedure is a comprehensive framework designed to create a safe and inclusive educational environment for all students. The policy is driven by the school's commitment to fostering a respectful and supportive community that values the well-being of every individual.

This policy defines "harassment, intimidation, or bullying" as intentional acts, including electronic communication, that physically harm a student or damage their property, substantially interfere with their education, create an intimidating or threatening environment, or disrupt the orderly operation of the school. It emphasizes that these acts can be motivated by factors such as race, color, religion, gender, sexual orientation, disability, or other distinguishing characteristics.

The procedure outlines a clear and structured process for addressing incidents of harassment, intimidation, or bullying. It emphasizes the importance of reporting through an Incident Reporting Form, which can be submitted anonymously, confidentially, or non-confidentially to protect the targeted student from retaliation.

Upon receipt of a report, school staff are required to promptly investigate the incident, ensuring the safety and well-being of the complainant. The investigation involves interviews with the complainant, alleged aggressor, and any witnesses, as well as a review of previous complaints. Corrective measures, ranging from counseling and education to discipline and involvement of law enforcement, are implemented based on the severity of the behavior and the individual's history.

Prevention and education are integral components of this policy and procedure. Staff members receive annual training to understand their roles and responsibilities, while students are provided with age-appropriate information to recognize and prevent harassment, intimidation, or bullying.

The policy acknowledges that it does not limit the school's ability to address other inappropriate behaviors through additional policies or rules. It also emphasizes the school's commitment to compliance with state laws related to harassment, intimidation, or bullying.

Overall, this comprehensive policy and procedure reflect the school's dedication to maintaining a safe, respectful, and inclusive learning environment. By promoting awareness, intervention, and support, the school aims to ensure the well-being and academic success of all students while fostering a positive and thriving educational community.

G.	Second Read Policy and Procedure 3122 EXCUSED and UNEXCUSED ABSENCES	Vote	Steven Carney	1 m
Background: Rooted School Vancouver’s Excused and Unexcused Absences policy and procedure have been developed in the context of prevailing educational standards, state laws, and the school’s commitment to support the holistic development of all students. The policy aims to encourage regular school attendance, identify the factors causing absenteeism, and create solutions that promote positive student engagement. The procedure regarding excused absences acknowledges the occasional valid reasons that prevent a student from attending school and outlines a clear process for making such absences known to the school. It addresses the ways in which the school will support the student in catching up with missed work, thereby ensuring that excused absences don’t negatively impact a student’s academic progression. The aspect of the policy dealing with unexcused absences is driven by an understanding that persistent absenteeism can hinder a student’s academic performance and socio-emotional development. It sets forth a proactive, data-informed approach to reduce student absences, including conferences, assessments, personalized interventions, and, if needed, collaboration with a community engagement board and the juvenile court system. This policy and procedure underlines Rooted School Vancouver’s dedication to fostering an educational environment where every student is present, engaged, and equipped with the resources they need to succeed. It sets out the framework for effective communication between the school, students, and parents, ensuring that all parties are aware of their responsibilities and the steps that will be taken in the event of both excused and unexcused absences. Recommendation: Approve Policy and Procedure 3122 EXCUSED and UNEXCUSED ABSENCES
H.	Second Read Policy and Procedure 4130 Title I Parent and Family Engagement	Vote	Steven Carney	1 m
Background: The combined Policy and Procedure on Title I Parent and Family Engagement underscores the school’s commitment to involving and supporting parents and families in their children’s education. The Policy recognizes the diversity of family structures, circumstances, and cultural backgrounds, valuing families as important decision-makers in their children's educational journey.

The Policy highlights the school's adherence to federal laws governing Title I programs and emphasizes the involvement of parents and guardians in the development and evaluation of these programs. It acknowledges the critical role of coordination, technical assistance, and other support in effectively engaging parents to enhance student school performance and academic achievement.

The school's commitment to building the capacity for strong parental involvement is outlined, with an emphasis on conducting an annual evaluation of the policy's effectiveness and identifying barriers to greater parent participation, particularly for parents with limited English proficiency, parents with disabilities, and parents of migratory children. The establishment of the Family Advisory Council (FAC) is detailed, with its integration into Title I program planning and evaluation processes.

The accompanying Procedure provides specific actions to ensure meaningful parent engagement. It outlines the annual meeting that informs parents of the school's participation under Title I, explains Title I requirements, and clarifies parental rights. The Procedure highlights the importance of flexibility in meeting times and ongoing involvement of parents in planning, reviewing, and improving Title I programs.

The Procedure further emphasizes timely information dissemination, including descriptions of the curriculum, academic assessments, and state academic standards. It emphasizes the need for regular communication between teachers and parents, frequent progress reports, reasonable access to staff, and opportunities for parent input and suggestions.

The school-parent compact is addressed in the Procedure, emphasizing shared responsibilities for improved student academic achievement. It outlines the school's commitment to providing high-quality curriculum and instruction while expecting parents to support their children's learning, volunteer in the classroom, and participate in education-related decisions. The importance of ongoing, meaningful communication between family members and school staff is emphasized.

The Procedure also addresses compliance with federal law, distribution of information in an understandable format and multiple languages, and the joint development of school-wide and individual school parent and family engagement plans. It underscores the involvement of parents in school review and improvement processes and the provision of resources and training to support parents in working with their children.
