 - Students engaged in a collaborative civics-based project in which they were tasked with developing a complete Student Council Constitution. The purpose of this activity was to build understanding of governance, leadership, and democratic processes in a developmentally appropriate way.

- To mirror real-world school governance structures, students were organized into committees, with each committee responsible for drafting a specific section of the constitution. The sections included:
 - Preamble (Purpose) – Defined the mission and goals of the student council
 - Membership – Outlined who can participate and expectations for involvement
 - Officers & Roles – Described leadership positions and their responsibilities
 - Meetings – Established how and when the council will meet
 - Elections – Detailed the process for selecting student leaders
- Each committee worked collaboratively to draft its section, using guiding questions and structured worksheets to ensure clarity, completeness, and alignment with school values. This process emphasized student voice, teamwork, and accountability.
- The next phase of the project involves committee presentations, where each group will present its drafted section to the full Student Council. During this stage, peers will provide feedback, revisions may be suggested, and each section will be reviewed and approved through a collective process.
- Once all sections are approved, they will be compiled into a single, unified Student Council Constitution.
- Following assembly, students will engage in the amendment process, allowing them to propose improvements, practice structured debate, and experience how governing documents evolve over time.
