A. Head of School Report

NWEA winter testing window just started, going smoothly.

Kindness Week first week of February.

No school on Feb 14, PD Day

Second round of family conferences and observations coming up in February.

UMCS at the Warriors Game - Students got to stand with players during the National Anthem. Great experience for kids.

Planning for UMCS Pathways - Future of UMCS or Public Montessori.

ACOE trustees are not likely bring to revote.

Other option is to become a Montessori school within the district. Lots of conversations are happening, but situation is very delicate and we are working to maintain strong positive relationships with ACOE trustees as they can play a role in that process.

Hopefully more concrete information to share in the coming weeks.

IXL December Data

Still working on logistics, including "grey" data

Growth data varies by subgroup. AA students still lag, but overall growth range from 25-52 points (100 points = 1 school year)

Chronic Absenteeism

Decreases (improvements) over last year's data, but still with gaps for AA students.

Overall, 23% this year v. 30% last year. Since the nonrenewal decision, some students have left school but are still on rolls, so numbers will change. Improvements partly due to revamped independent study program.

A. Ng asks at what point during the school year chronic absenteeism gets recorded for the state dashboard? Not clear. S. Morrill says she believes end of the school year.

A. Ng asks about path forward: what are the biggest questions/issues? D. Bissonnette says figuring out what the reality of moving to OUSD actually is.

K. Fortuna asks what the hurdles are? Biggest is cost. Two teachers/classroom are expensive.

L.Butler asks if two teachers are negotiable? Daniel responded, that ideally, no.
S.Morrill asks what the logistics are? Public/private partnership that allows UMCS to operate as a 501c that can fundraise for things like two teachers. Conversations happening around that, including options for the teacher training program, such as training OUSD teachers for free.

L.Butler asks if the negotiations are subject to influence from parent activities. Daniel shared absolutely. Parents want to help us, and its important to have them support positively.

S.Morrill asks what is the best venue for those conversations with families and board? Executive committee might work. Daniel has tried to attend as many parent meetings as possible but it is hard to give updates without a lot of information.

A. Ng asks what has been communicated to families about timeline? Parents have been discussed push for ACOE revote needs to addressed this month. Other options are supporting families as they look at applying for other schools etc.

A.Ng asks what is being done to support families. Meeting last week for collecting questions from families about transferring; will share questions with OUSD, will invite schools to visit

A.Ng asks about staff staying for the rest of the year? Staff has been vocal about staying through the end of the school year.

A. Ng asks in YM&C is supporting re timeline and next steps. Yes, YM&C, Charter Safe, EdTech have been supportive

A. Ng says there will be an item for future meetings about what the board responsibilities are.

There's a lot going on. FAC has mostly become #saveUMCS. Families and FAC leaders continue to have may questions, are looking to soon meet with Daniel. Daniel shared about ongoing efforts to build community, including free movie night, spontaneous acts of kindness during kindness week. Fundraising has largely been tabled.

A.Ng asks if the parent community knows best path to ask questions. Daniel says FAC, mostly Marcela, has been meeting consistently with him. Lana shared that she plans to also meet with Marcela to help share out information.

S. Morrill asks if the the FAC is still being updated? Only a few questions were submitted recently. FAC leadership has shrunk and hasn't really restructured since.
