The Client may authorize RIA to allocate such assets of the Client's account to TPMs, or Sleeve Strategy Managers, to hire and fire TPMs or Sleeve Strategy Managers, and reallocate the Client's assets to other TPMs as RIA recommends, consistent with the financial needs, long-term goals, and investment guidelines, restrictions, and objectives specified in the Client Profile.

2. Fees

• Core Services

The Client will pay the Advisor a quarterly investment management fee (the "Advisor Fee") based on the fair market value of portfolio assets under management in the Account[s] at the end of the preceding quarter and in accordance with the fee schedule set forth in Appendix A

The Advisor Fees are calculated based on the quarter-end security valuations as provided by the Client's designated Custodian (as noted in Item 3). Investment management fees will be deducted from the Client's Account[s] by the custodian as soon as is practical following the last business day of the preceding calendar quarter. The Client will provide written authorization to the Advisor for the deduction of Advisor Fees on any forms from the Custodian[s]. The Advisor or its delegate shall instruct the Custodian[s] as to the amount of the fees to be deducted from the Client's Account[s]. Clients will receive independent statements from the Custodian[s] no less frequently than quarterly.

No additional fees are assessed for special reports, services, or meetings, except in extraordinary circumstances, in which case Client(s) will be notified. Investment advisory services begin with the effective date of this Agreement. For that calendar month, fees will be adjusted pro-rata based upon the number of calendar days in the calendar quarter that the Agreement was effective. For all accounts, an annual flat fee of $50.00 per account will be assessed in addition to the core services fees outlined above.

For certain Non-Custodial Partnerships, the Advisor may not receive quarter-end investment valuations prior to its fee billing calculation. In such instances, the Advisor will use the most recent month-end or quarter-end valuation available from the applicable third-party valuator for the calculation of investment advisory fees.

Financial Planning Fees.

A retainer of $_____ is due within 7 days. Balance is due within ____ days of delivery of the completed plan. Please complete the Addendum for Financial Planning Arrangements.

Corporate Services Fees:

For Corporate Services fees, HOURLY RATE of $_____ or alternatively a FIXED FEE of $_____, in addition to an ANNUAL FEE of _____% of the value of the plan assets. The corporate asset fee is billed quarterly in arrears at the end of each calendar quarter, based on the value of the plan assets at the end of the quarter. The client authorizes RIA to invoice the custodian directly or arrange for an alternate invoicing procedure. Plan fees cover the above services and are not investment management fees. No investment management is provided directly to participants of the company-sponsored plan without a separate engagement signed by the participant.

Performance Based Fees/Side by Side Billing: Under this payment option, Client agrees to pay a performance based advisory fee of the net increase in Account Value (adjusted for additional investments, redemptions, and other non-performance related changes. Please complete the Performance-Based Fee Addendum. Only Qualified Clients with more than $2.1m of networth and have more than $1m of Assets under Management will be considered for Performance Based Fee arrangements.

Note: Fees set forth herein do not include any other professional services which may be required by the Client to implement the recommendations made by RIA. In addition to the fees set forth above, for certain transactions Client will be assessed a transaction charge that will appear on each quarterly statement provided by RIA. RIA does not provide legal or tax advice.

Other Fees

In addition to RIA's fees set forth above, the Client is subject to certain other fees and charges that are imposed by third parties, including (i) Account custodian fees; (ii) Brokerage fees and/or expenses; (iii) Mutual Fund management fees, expenses, and sales charges. All mutual fund fees and charges will be disclosed in the prospectus for such funds and generally will be explained by an RIA representative at the time of recommending such investments. Please refer to the RIA Form ADV for more detailed information.

In instances where the Advisor trades away from the Custodian, the Account[s] will incur a trade-away fee from a Custodian for each transaction that is executed on a trade-away basis. This fee is separate from the commission/transaction fee or mark-up/mark-down imposed by the broker-dealer through which the trade was executed. The Client's Account[s] may incur higher transaction costs for securities traded away than those traded through the Custodian.

With respect to the Axxcess Platform, sub-advisor, or TPM asset management fees, when assets are allocated to a TPM, RIA may charge an advisory fee for its allocation, advisement, and recommendations based on the Client's assets under management. The Client acknowledges that the advisory fees assessed will vary dependent upon the TPM selected, the size of the account, and the services provided. The Client will be responsible for paying any TPM's investment management fees, which are separate and distinct from RIA's advisory or investment management fees. Under certain Sub-Advisory relationships, a portion of the Sleeve Strategy Manager fee is retained by RIA for various administrative, trading, and execution services provided to both the client and the Sleeve Strategy Manager. For information regarding the TPM's minimum account size, requirements, management services, and associated advisory and sub-advisory fees, please refer to the TPM's

At no time will the Advisor accept, maintain possession or have custodial responsibility for the Client's funds or securities. Additional details regarding custody and brokerage transactions are included in Item 4 of this Agreement.

Form ADV Part 2A and other Axxcess Platform materials, which discuss the Axxcess Platform and any associated conflicts of interest.

Amendments – The Advisor may modify the terms in this Section prospectively on at least 30 days prior written notice. If such amendment is not acceptable to the Client, the Client may terminate this Agreement at any time pursuant to the provisions of this Agreement.

Multiple Accounts – Unless otherwise noted in Appendix A of this Agreement, should the Client have multiple Accounts at the Custodian[s], Account[s] held-away from the Custodian[s], and/or Non-Custodial Partnerships, the Advisor will bill each respective Account for its respective share of Advisor Fees.

3. General Provisions for Advisory Services

a. Additions and Withdrawals

If the Client has engaged RIA to perform core, Advisory, and/or Corporate Services under this Agreement, the Client may make cash additions to and/or withdrawals from the account at any time, subject to RIA's right to terminate this Agreement and provided that all additions and withdrawals are made after giving RIA timely notice. The Client acknowledges that cash will be made available for withdrawal only when transactions effected to raise cash are settled, which may take thirty (30) days or more, dependent upon the terms of each particular investment.

The Client further acknowledges that frequent and/or significant withdrawals may adversely affect the account's performance and may impair RIA's ability to manage the Client's assets in accordance with the Client's objectives and investment strategies for the portfolio.

b. Conflicts of Interest

As discussed above, RIA may recommend the services of one or more TPMs to manage all or a portion of the Client's assets. RIA may have established a referral relationship with certain TPMs, which may result in the receipt by RIA of a portion of the fees earned by such TPMs in connection with the investment made by the Client. Such arrangements will comply with the requirements set forth in Rule 206(4)-3 of the Investment Advisers Act of 1940 (the "Advisers Act"), including the requirement that the Client is furnished a disclosure statement at the time of the referral setting forth the nature of the relationship and the compensation received. RIA may also enter into a sub-advisory agreement with the TPM. These Managers have agreed to manage their strategies on the Axxcess Platform, which allows RIA to combine different sub-advised TPMS into a single brokerage account. These Managers are called Sleeve Managers on the Axxcess Platform. Sub-advisory Sleeve Managers are paid out of the total strategy fee. RIA retains a portion of the Sleeve Strategy fee. Nonetheless, such arrangements may present a potential conflict of interest between RIA and the Client, and the Client hereby acknowledges RIA's disclosure of such conflict. The Client further understands that RIA has taken steps to mitigate these conflicts of interest, which are disclosed in RIA's Form ADV Part 2A (the "Disclosure Brochure"), Form ADV Part 3 ("Form CRS" or "Client Relationship Summary"), and the applicable Form ADV Part 2B ("Brochure Supplement[s]") and acknowledges that the Client is under no obligation to use the recommended TPM.

It is foreseeable that, in the course of providing investment management services, RIA may recommend the purchase or sale of a particular security for multiple Client accounts. When deemed by RIA to be in the best interests of such Clients, RIA may aggregate the securities to be traded for each such account into one or more trade orders. These circumstances may, in turn, give rise to actual or potential conflicts of interest among the accounts for whom the security purchase or sale is appropriate. In order to address these conflicts, RIA has adopted certain standards and procedures that it follows in allocating securities and block trades in order to provide an objective and equitable method of trade allocation so that all Clients are treated fairly; see also Section 3.d., below.

The Client acknowledges RIA's disclosure of the potential conflicts of interest and understands that no assurance can be given that these or other conflicts of interest will, in all cases, be resolved to the satisfaction of the Client, and RIA shall not be liable so long as it has acted in good faith.

c. Custody and Brokerage Transactions

Custody of account assets will be maintained with an independent qualified custodian (herein the "Custodian"). RIA will not be the custodian and will have no liability with respect to custodial arrangements or the acts, conduct, or omissions of or by the Custodian. The Client has appointed the Custodian[s] set forth below to take and have possession of the assets of the Account[s]. The Client authorizes RIA to give the Custodian[s] instructions for the purchase, sale, conversion, redemption, exchange, or retention of any security, cash, or cash equivalent for the account and will instruct the Custodian[s] to provide RIA with such periodic reports concerning the status of the account as RIA may reasonably request. The Client acknowledges that directing the brokerage activities solely to the Custodian[s] may result in the loss of best execution of orders at the most favorable prices reasonably obtainable. Please refer to the RIA's Form ADV Part 2A (the "Disclosure Brochure") for additional important disclosure information.

Any Account[s] held away from the Custodian[s] and/or certain non-custodial assets, or Account[s] are outlined in Appendix B.

Custodian[s]:

- Charles Schwab & Co., Inc./
- TD Ameritrade Institutional (TDAI)
- First Clearing Corp/Wells Fargo
- Morgan Stanley
- Goldman Sachs
- Other: _____

The Client hereby authorizes RIA to invoice the Custodian directly for its fees and authorizes the Custodian to debit the Client's account for its quarterly investment management and financial planning fees and related charges. The Client understands that the fees and charges may not include custodial fees or additional transaction costs, for which the Client has sole responsibility.

Additionally, as soon as possible after the end of each calendar quarter, the Client hereby directs the Custodian to send RIA and Client a custodial account statement identifying, among other things, the Client's holdings, all transactions that occurred during the quarter in the Client's account, any expenses (including those advisory fees paid to RIA) incurred during the preceding calendar quarter, and the value of the account as of the last business day of the preceding calendar quarter.

Trading Away from Custodian – It is the policy and practice of RIA to strive for the best price and execution that are competitive in relation to the value of the transaction ("best execution"). As it deems appropriate, the Advisor may trade away from the Client's appointed Custodian[s] for access to securities to achieve best execution for the Client. In selecting a broker, dealer, or other intermediary, RIA will consider such factors that, in good faith and judgment, it deems reasonable under the circumstances. In such instances, the Client will complete additional authorizations with the Custodian[s] for the discretionary authority to trade away from the Custodian[s]. The Custodian[s] may also charge an additional trade-away fee for these transactions in addition to the normal securities transaction costs.

Notwithstanding the above, should the Client direct RIA to use a particular broker or dealer, RIA may, at its discretion, agree to such direction (although it is not required to do so). The Client acknowledges that RIA may not be able to achieve best execution as that term is defined above if the Client directs RIA to use a particular broker or dealer. Please refer to the RIA's Form ADV Part 2A for additional important disclosure information.

d. Aggregation.

The Client consents and agrees that RIA may aggregate ("block trade") sale and purchase orders with other client accounts that have similar orders being made contemporaneously under the management of RIA if, in RIA's judgment, such aggregation is reasonably likely to result in an overall economic benefit to the account. Such benefits may include better transaction prices and lower trade execution costs. If all aggregate orders do not fill at the same price, RIA may cause the Client and each similar order to pay or receive the average prices at which the orders were filled. If such orders cannot be fully executed under prevailing market conditions, RIA may allocate the securities traded among clients and each similar order in a manner that it considers equitable, taking into account the size of the order placed, the Client's cash position, the investment objective of the account, size of the order, and liquidity of the security.

e. Proxy Voting

At no time will the Advisor accept, maintain possession or have custodial responsibility for the Client's funds or securities. Additional details regarding custody and brokerage transactions are included in Item 4 of this Agreement.

Client hereby authorizes RIA to vote any and all proxies for Client's account(s). Decisions about how to vote on a proxy will be made based on the best interests of an account. In general, RIA will vote in favor of routine proposals, such as those for the election of auditors, and against proposals that in any way restrict a shareholder's ability to realize the full potential value of their investment, such as anti-takeover measures and cumulative voting rights. Other proposals, such as officer and director stock plans, will be reviewed on a case-by-case basis. In the event that voting on a proposal may cause a conflict of interest, RIA will vote as described above unless doing so does not address the potential conflict. In this case, RIA will communicate the proxy information and intended vote to the client. RIA will vote these proxies as decided by the Client unless the Client does not respond within a reasonable period of time, in which case RIA will vote as communicated to the Client.

f. Employee Retirement Income Security Act ("ERISA")

(i) ERISA 3(21) Retirement Plans

Both parties acknowledge that if the account is subject to the Employee Retirement Income Security Act of 1974, as amended (ERISA), the following provisions will apply: (i) RIA acknowledges that it is a "fiduciary" with respect to the Client as that term is defined under Section 3(21)(A) under ERISA; (ii) The person signing this Agreement on behalf of the Client acknowledges its status as a "named fiduciary" with respect to the control and management of the assets held in the account, and agrees to notify RIA promptly of any change in the identity of the named fiduciary with respect to the account; (iii) The Plan agrees to obtain and maintain an ERISA bond (when not otherwise provided by the plan sponsor) satisfying the requirements of Section 412 of ERISA and include RIA and its members, agents and employees among those insured under that bond; (iv) The Client confirms that any instructions that have been given to RIA with regard to the account are consistent with the governing plan documents and investment policy statements which the plan has or will deliver to RIA; (v) Client confirms that reasonably in advance of the execution of this agreement RIA provided to Client and Client received all disclosures required by 29 C.F.R. § 2550.408b-2, including, but not limited to, services to be provided, status of the Adviser and compensation to be paid by the plan, which are contained in Agreement and/or RIA's Form ADV Part 1 and 2; and (vi) The Client confirms that the account is only part of the retirement plan's assets and as such, RIA is not responsible for all plan investments and Client's consequential compliance with those requirements under ERISA.

(i) Retirement Plans and Individual Retirement Accounts

When the Advisor and its advisory persons provide investment advice to the Client regarding retirement plan accounts or individual retirement accounts, the Advisor is a fiduciary within the meaning of Title I of ERISA and/or the Internal Revenue Code, as applicable, which are laws governing retirement accounts. The way the Advisor makes money creates some conflicts with the Client's interests, so the Advisor operates under a special rule that requires the Advisor to act in the Client's best interest and not put the Advisor's interest ahead of the Client's. Under this special rule's provisions, the Advisor must (i) meet a professional standard of care when making investment recommendations (give prudent advice); (ii) never put the Advisor's financial interests ahead of the Client's when making recommendations (give loyal advice); (iii) avoid misleading statements about conflicts of interest, fees, and investments; (iv) follow policies and procedures designed to ensure that the Advisor give advice that is in the Client's best interest; (v) charge no more than is reasonable for the Advisor's services; and (vi) give the Client basic information about conflicts of interest.

5. Term and Termination

The term of this Agreement will commence upon the Effective Date set forth above and will continue until terminated by written notice by the Client of RIA for any reason. Such termination will be effective upon the date specified in the notice. Prior to the effective date of termination, the Client will provide RIA with written instructions as to the liquidation or settlement of the account, which may limit the discretion of RIA to enter into further transactions after the date such instructions are received. RIA agrees to be bound by such instructions after receipt thereof. Such termination shall not, however, affect liabilities or obligations incurred or arising from transactions initiated under this Agreement prior to the termination, including provisions regarding arbitration, which shall survive any expiration or termination of this Agreement. The Client agrees that RIA shall be entitled to a pro-rata portion of its fee, based upon the number of months of representation until the effective date of termination.

6. Covenants, Warranties, and Acknowledgements

a. Qualifications/Status of Adviser

RIA represents and warrants that it is registered with the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission as an "Investment Adviser" as that term is defined in the Advisers Act, as amended. RIA is qualified to act as an

7. Confidentiality

The Parties hereto agree not to disclose to any other party and to keep confidential the terms and conditions of this Agreement and any amendment or supplement thereto. Notwithstanding the foregoing, RIA may disclose Client information to such person(s) to include (a) its employees, directors, agents, attorneys, accountants, and other professional advisors; (b) any governmental authority having jurisdiction over RIA, or to the extent required in response to any court order or other governmental authority, or as otherwise required pursuant to any requirement of law; (c) any stock exchange, regulatory, or self-regulatory organization having authority over the Client or RIA; and (d) any third party whom RIA (in its sole discretion) deems it necessary to disclose such information to in connection with the management and servicing of the account.

9. Indemnification

Except in the case of gross negligence or willful misconduct, each Party agrees to defend, indemnify, and hold harmless the other Party and its directors, officers, agents, employees, and successors in interest from all claims, losses, deficiencies, damages, liabilities, costs and expenses (including, without limitation, reasonable attorneys' fees, and all related costs and expenses) incurred by the other Party as a result of any claim, judgment, or adjudication arising out of or relating to (a) a material breach of a Party's obligations, representations or warranties in the Agreement; (b) a Party's noncompliance with applicable laws, rules or regulations; or (c) any action taken or omitted by a Party in good faith reliance upon the other Party's direction in connection with the Services. Each Party shall: (i) give the other Party prompt written notice of such claim; and (ii) allow the other Party to control and fully cooperate with the Party in the defense and all related negotiations.

The federal and state securities laws impose liabilities under certain circumstances on persons who act in good faith, and therefore nothing in this Agreement will waive or limit any rights that you may have under those laws.

10. Miscellaneous/General Provisions

a. Standard of Care and Investment Risk

It is agreed that RIA will discharge its duties under this Agreement with the care, skill, prudence, and diligence under the circumstances then prevailing that a prudent person acting in a like or similar capacity and familiar with such matters would use in the conduct of money management of comparable character. Nothing herein will in any way constitute a waiver or limitation of any rights that the Client may have under any federal or state securities laws based on negligence, which cannot be modified in advance by contract.

Without limiting the foregoing, RIA will not be liable for any losses to Client resulting from the disposition of any investment which has been made by a predecessor Investment Adviser or by any other person authorized to invest the assets of Client, or for the retention thereof if RIA is unable to dispose of such investment or property because of any federal or state securities laws or restrictions or it is unmarketable or illiquid in nature or if any orderly liquidation is difficult under prevailing market conditions.

Under no circumstances will RIA be obligated to effect any transaction for the Client that it believes would violate any applicable state or federal law, rule or regulation, or the rules or regulations of any regulatory or self-regulatory body.

In addition, RIA will not have any duty or obligation to advise or take any action on behalf of Client or Client's accounts in any legal proceedings, including bankruptcies or class actions, involving securities held in or formerly held in the account.

The Client understands and acknowledges that RIA renders investment advice to and performs other portfolio management services for other individuals and entities. RIA, its members, employees, and beneficial owners may from time to time buy, sell, or trade in securities for their own accounts, for the accounts of their family, for an account in which they have a beneficial interest, or for the accounts of others for whom they provide portfolio management services. The Client agrees that RIA may give advice and take such other action with respect to these other accounts that may differ from the advice given or the timing or nature of action taken with respect to the Client's account.
