IV. Public Comment

A. Public Comment

Addressing the Council – Scholar Leadership Council meetings will be held in a civil, orderly and respectful manner. All public comments or questions should be addressed to the Council through the Chair of the Council. To ensure an orderly meeting and an equal opportunity for each speaker, persons wishing to address the Council must send a Speaker Request Message through the form of a text message or chat box message to Miguel Aguilar, Executive Assistant to the Superintendent (805-807-8199). Messages must contain speaker name, contact number or email, and subject matter and sent prior to the beginning of the Public Comment section of the meeting. Members of the public may address the Council on any matter relating to the school and have three (3) minutes each to do so. The total time of each subject will be fifteen (15) minutes, unless additional time is requested by a Council Member and approved by the Council.

The Council may not deliberate or take action on items that are not on the agenda. However, the Council may suggest direction to staff following a presentation. The Chair is in charge of the meeting and will maintain order, set the time limits for the speakers and the subject matter, and will have the prerogative to remove any person who is disruptive of the Council meeting. The Parent Advisory Council may place limitations on the total time to be devoted to each topic if it finds that the numbers of speakers would impede the Council's ability to conduct its business in a timely manner. The Scholar Leadership Council may also allow for additional public comment and questions after reports and presentations if it deems necessary.

DO YOU DO?

BUGGIN' out!

There are many reasons why you might be lacking motivation.

What are you getting stuck on - or what is bugging you?

BEHAVIORAL ACTIVATION
Behavioral Activation Planning

Behavioral Activation Planning

Behavioral activation is a skill that helps us interrupt the cycle of inactivity in our lives by planning activities that help us feel more energized and accomplished. Plan some activities for your week below, and use the Coping Skills Practice Log to track your practice and see how activities impact your mood!

Activities I might like to do:

2.

3.

4.

5.

6.

This week I'm going to focus on: _____

The best time of day for me to do this is: _____

In order to have it count, I will need to do my activity for at least _____ minutes.

My goal is to do my activity at least _____ times before next group.

Some things that might make it harder for me to reach my goal are: _____

I can overcome those barriers by: _____

Reward

If I reach my goal, I will: _____

Strategies for when the “Stuckies”-strike

Get Active

Motivation often follows action. Even a few minutes of being active can have a ripple effect – each positive action is an investment toward recovery!

Track Your Progress

Keep activity and mood logs so you can start to see the relationship between what you do and how you feel. Set goals, and use meaningful rewards to stay motivated – then document your success. This can be hard work, so be proud even of small steps!

Pay Attention to Your Choices

Making a good choice can help your body and mind begin to recover! When we aren't sleeping or eating well, or when we use substances, we leave ourselves vulnerable to negative emotions. In moments of decision, which choice will move you toward wellness?

Be Kind to Yourself

Depression can be incredibly frustrating and discouraging. It's so much harder to do anything, and you may feel like a failure because of that. Plus, depression can make it hard to enjoy things, so it can take a while for activities to feel fun again! Treat yourself kindly while you try to get better.

Set Small Goals

Self-care is a great place to start. If you've gotten out of the habit of showering, take a shower. Brush your teeth. Clean your room. Notice if it makes you feel better. Even if it isn't enjoyable immediately, try it again the next day! Even small steps count!
