Academy of Arts & Sciences (AAS) Names their October Scholars of the Month

Thousand Oaks, CA – AAS is proud of its scholars and uses its Scholar of the Month program to recognize their achievements. Scholars are nominated by teachers and staff for their academic excellence, work ethic, leadership skills, and virtual involvement, and selected by our leadership team for the monthly honor.

Elementary School Scholars of the Month: Anthony and Frankie C., of AAS Los Angeles

“Anthony and Frankie have worked very hard this year. Frankie has been a great student since she began with us last year,” said Katherine Hooper, AAS elementary school teacher. “Her brother Anthony began this year but was working last year so that he could be a great scholar like his big sister. They have an amazing learning coach, Penny, who is always on the ball. She works tirelessly to give her scholars her best every day. I want to give them a virtual high five. Keep up the great work!”

Middle School Scholar of the Month: Kayla C., of AAS Fresno

“Kayla is an excellent scholar who always gives her best effort and displays an exemplary attitude and responsibility for her learning, said Melissa Collier, AAS middle school teacher. “She is consistently on pace or ahead of pace in her classes and takes her education very seriously.”

High School Scholar of the Month: Brice L., of AAS Thousand Oaks/Simi Valley

“Brice displays outstanding attention to detail when completing assignments,” said Jennifer Jennings, AAS high school teacher. She has incredible participation in weekly learning labs!”

There are many talented scholars enrolled at AAS, and this Scholar of the Month program is one of the many ways we recognize and celebrate our scholars,” remarked J.J. Lewis, AAS President & CEO. “Please join all of us at AAS in celebrating Anthony and Frankie, Anita, and Brice for being named our October Scholars of the Month!”
