

Compass Charter Schools

ParentSquare Poll | October

“BEFORE attending Compass, I was confident that my scholar had the ability to learn and succeed in school.”

- I was hesitant because BOTH of my children are different style learners and as a former Elementary school teacher I know how the "system" has to meet certain checkpoints and standards. With the amount of student per classroom I was afraid of one getting left behind and one not reaching her full potential.
- I had no confidence in the previous school districts ability to teach my child in a safe and nurturing environment in a way that he could understand, thrive and be successful. It was one of the main reasons why I Homeschooled him. And have him enrolled in Compass as this environment is the best for his academic success. His overall progress has been amazing since attending Compass, compared to what it was before. I now have the confidence in my child's ability to be successful in school and in life.
- Though I'm very grateful to have Compass as a partner in meeting my scholars' educational needs, their success ultimately rests with me.
- We didn't do homeschool for reasons having to do with learning ability, but for medical reasons.
- I love the Options Program.
- It is because of CCS & their amazing staff and their different programs that my son is succeeding, thank you Compass Charters ❤️
- While my scholar had the ability, the school environment suppressed that ability.

- Our son has always struggled, but we keep motivating him to our fullest ability...
- I believe she is capable here or out there. However, out there she wasn't afforded the opportunity to learn undistracted by others as well as frequent "lock downs!" She is trying but needs so much assistance in mathematics, I don't know what to do? We had a private tutor for nearly two years, after her failing last semester, I let her go. Now Aliya is using your available tutorial but NEEDS MORE... Please? I just don't know where to turn.
- Thanks for your time and appreciate the opportunity for Aliya to continue with CCS.
- Home school is the best for us. They teach really good and our kids are safe home.
- My son is highly gifted. I was so hoping that Compass Charter would be sensitive to his needs as an exceptional student but as our second year progresses, I'm having second thoughts.
- my scholars are very capable academically, however I was concerned by the classroom environment that held my son back from the pace he learns best at. He was viewed as a difficult student because he would finish work too quickly and know answers immediately. Homeschooling is definitely a better place for both of my children to be.
- I love it its great
- Yours is amazing. My son dealing with issues, so appreciate your support. He's super bright, no scholar and struggles with writing.
- Yes, this child works above grade level in curriculum & reading material & has very good incomprehension of that material & of vocabulary & context in general.
- We are so pleased with Compass. We made the correct choice
- a little lost at first, still learning, but feel confident its the best decision for my children to learn.
- none
- I've seen a significant push on my daughter's part since attending Compass Charter which confirms to me that homeschooling was and is what's best for her.
- Before Compass Charters, I was confident in my scholar's ability to learn, but I was not confident in the education system that was investing into my child.
- Before Compass Charters, my scholar was educationally falling behind, as well as socially.
- Once my scholar joined Compass Charters, not only did my scholar begin to soar educationally, but my scholar also began to develop confidence and social skills, which are critical for future collaborative success.
- Anyone who doubts a home-school program, by thinking it doesn't offer enough socialization for the scholar, should absolutely reconsider, and give Compass Charters a try.
- It's important that social interactions be positive and uplifting interactions, and Compass Charters supplies that for each and every scholar, from my experience. It's not about quantity; it's about quality. Compass Charters provides that quality.
- Before coming to Compass, my boys were not working well at all in their classes, I had them tested and there is no need for me to enroll them in any special classes. I looked for a better alternative and found Compass. So far I have had them enrolled in CCS for two years. My oldest one was telling me that some of the lessons he has now are too easy. Both my boys are intelligent, I told them they just have to get through a few more years of schoolwork, then they can pursue their dreams of careers or trade schools.
