V. Financial

A. Financial Report from MAST Financial (Discussion)

Mast Financial gave a summary of the October Financial Report

Financial ratios remain in good standing, and the budget is tracking well overall.

Revenue is currently at 33% and expenses are at 28%. This is consistent with historical data from the previous year, where revenue was also 33% and expenses were 29%.

There are currently 80 days of cash on hand.

A significant increase in cash is expected in the November report due to the reimbursement of the ERC.

The school received a credit of approximately $1.8 million, plus $564,000 in accrued interest, totaling $2,371,000.

A 20% fee ($474,320) is owed to Bottom Line Concepts, the firm that handled the filing.

The net cash increase for the school will be roughly $1.9 million.

The school was eligible for this credit because it is organized as a 501(c)(3) non-profit, whereas some other charter schools considered 100% government entities were not eligible.

Questions Asked by Board Members

Secretary St. Jean asked for clarification regarding the "significant change" in cash on hand from October to November that Adam had mentioned.

Adam said, the school received a federal Employee Retention Credit (ERC) totaling $2.37 million, which includes interest. After paying a 20% fee to the consultants who filed the claim, the school will net approximately $1.9 million. This cash injection will be reflected in the November financial report.

Secretary St. Jean asked if other charter schools that Adam's firm works with were also able to recoup this money.

Adam said, many other charter schools did not qualify because the credit was limited to non-governmental entities. This school was eligible specifically because it is organized as a 501(c)(3) non-profit. Schools considered 100% government entities were excluded from applying.

X. Board Comments/Discussion

A. Open Meeting Law

President Singh issued a warning regarding the use of group text messages among members: If more than three board members engage in a discussion about board business over a text string, it is legally considered a "meeting". Because these discussions constitute a meeting, they would technically need to be posted and made accessible to the public.

Members were encouraged to use the Board on Track platform for official requests or to contact the chair directly to add items to an official agenda rather than discussing them via chat.

B. Agenda Items

President Singh clarified the strict timeline required to introduce new topics for discussion:

The Three-Day Rule: By law, the meeting agenda must be posted at least three days before the board meets.

Submission Lead Time: To allow staff enough time to review items and include them in the posting, members should submit agenda requests nearly a week in advance (specifically by the Thursday prior to a meeting).

Discussion Constraints: The board emphasized that if an item is not officially listed on the posted agenda, they are legally unable to discuss it during the meeting.

Member Farthing would like to have strategic planning to be added back and review at the next board meeting.

Relook at committees for the board.
