If you do not have a number, see How to get a TIN, later.

Part II Certification

Under penalties of perjury, I certify that:

For real estate transactions, item 2 does not apply. For mortgage interest paid, acquisition or abandonment of secured property, cancellation of debt, contributions to an individual retirement arrangement (IRA), and generally, payments other than interest and dividends, you are not required to sign the certification, but you must provide your correct TIN. Examples of information returns include, but are not limited to, the following:

- Form 1099-INT (interest earned or paid)
- Form 1099-DIV (dividends, including those from stocks or mutual funds)
- Form 1099-MISC (various types of income, prizes, awards, or gross proceeds)

- Form 1099-C (canceled debt)
- Form 1099-A (acquisition or abandonment of secured property)

Use Form W-9 only if you are a U.S. person (including a resident alien), to provide your correct TIN.

If you do not return Form W-9 to the requester with a TIN, you might be subject to backup withholding. See What is backup withholding, later.

Our One-Pager

We believe in providing easy-to-use solutions, and that starts with an easy-to-understand customer agreement. As a customer of Fonality, your agreement with us and our agreement with you isn't complicated.

We strive to provide you with great service, and we know that if we do, we'll earn your loyalty and referrals to other potential customers to help us continue to grow.

We will charge you once per month for all services and send you a bill showing a summary of those charges. This will include recurring charges for the upcoming month, and any non-recurring charges for services that may have been consumed or ordered in the prior month. For other charges, such as installations, license fees, and equipment, we will usually charge or invoice you in advance. You agree to pay us, or we may have to stop supporting you and providing you with service, so please ensure your charges are always paid on time. The current pricing for our products and services is shown on the quotes we provided for you. These quotes, orders, and incorporated contract terms below, form the basics of our agreement.

We hope you won't, but with proper notice you can cancel when your contract expires and we'll agree to port out any of your telephone numbers as required. Just make sure the numbers are ported before you disconnect service. If you don't cancel, we'll continue to provide you with service and support, and will automatically renew your agreement for an additional period of time equal to your initial term (as indicated on any quotes or orders or in the alternative within the incorporated terms) unless you let us know two months in advance of the contract term end date.

Because our lawyers made us add this, there are also some other things that you should know, mostly about how emergency services work when using a service like ours, regulatory matters, support, using the service in a lawful way, contract term, and cancellation details. They're incorporated by reference and located at the Fonality website for your review: <https://www.netfortris.com/terms/sept2015>.

Sign below to indicate your acceptance, and we'll do the same. Thank you for choosing us, and thank you for trusting us. We'll work hard to exceed your expectations.
